SHIP CARRIES 100 TO DEATH

Sinks 17 Minutes After Collision Near Marseilles, France.

IS HEADED FOR SHORE

Before Shallow Water Is Reached She Plunges Bow on Into the Sea.

OTHER VESSELS TO THE RESCUE

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

Marseilles, France, June 7.—A terrible shipping disaster occurred a little distance from this port at noon today, when two passenger steamers, the Insulaire and the Liban, both belonging to the Fraissenet Steamship Company of Marseilles, came into collision. The Liban sank and over 100 of her passengers and crew perished.

The steamer Liban left Marseilles this morning on her regular passenger trip to Bastia, Corsica, and was run down and sunk by the Insulaire off Maire Island. The collision was witnessed from the pilot boat Bleichamp, which was about two miles distant. The Bleichamp immediately repaired to the spot to render assistance. The force of the collision had cut a great hole in the Liban's side and she already was making water rapidly. Her captain saw the only chance was to run the steamer aground, and the Liban was headed full speed for the shore; but within 17 minutes of the collision, and when still in deep water, the fore part of the steamer plunged beneath the waves and a few minutes later she had entirely disappeared.

In the meantime the Bleichamp, the steamer Balkan, also belonging to the Fraissenat company, and other vessels had drawn near the sinking ship and were making desperate efforts to rescue those on board. The Bleichamp picked up 40 persons, many of whom were at the point of exhaustion. The Balkan rescued 37 passengers and up to the present it is known that in addition to the passengers 17 of the crew were also saved.

Officers of the steamer Balkan describe the scene before the Liban disappeared as a terrible one. As the vessel was sinking she was inclined to such an angle that her masts struck the water, causing an eddy, which made the work of rescue most difficult. A mass of human beings were clinging to the foundering vessel and uttered despairing cries as she went down. At the same time the boilers ex-

FOUGHT FRAUD SEVEN YEARS

Insurance Company Wins Out Despite U. S. Supreme Court.

RISK WAS IN HIDING

After Pretended Death Insured Man Awaited Settlement of His Sister's Claim.

IS NOW IN JAIL IN ALABAMA

A remarkable case of life insurance fraud, surpassed in recent annals only by that with which the murderer, H. H. Holmes, was connected in this city, has been brought to light after six years of investigation by the Fidelity Mutual Insurance Company, and one of its principal perpetrators, who for nearly seven years succeeded in maintaining the fiction that he was dead, is now in a southern prison.

The amount involved in this fraud is not extraordinarily large, the policies having been written for only $15,000, but its circumstances are most interesting. The Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company, the same that had to do with the detection and entrapping of Holmes in the midst of his fiendish career, says it has lost altogether some $35,000 through the prisoner's machinations. Its officers consider, however, that they are in a fair way to recover a large portion of this amount.

The man accused of being the chief operator of the fraud is William A. Hunter, who is in jail in Birmingham, Ala., under the name of William A. Hunt. How proof of his crime was obtained and how his whereabouts was discovered is a long story. It relates partly to the litigation between the sister of Hunter and her husband and the Fidelity insurance company lasting about six years.

The company fought the claim of the sister to the insurance upon her brother's life by every means known to the courts, being convinced from the beginning of its investigation of the alleged death of Hunter that it was fictitious. Incidental to the final discovery of William A. Hunt, alive, and his complete identification was his connection in Alabama with a case of murder. His testimony on the trial of the man who is believed to have committed that crime was the cause of the latter going free, and this testimony, the prosecutor now charges, was perjury.

BERLIN CHEMIST PURIFIES WATER BY OZONE METHOD

Asserts That Product Is Cheaper and of Better Quality Than That of the Sand Filtration System—Germs Are Killed.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

Berlin, June 7.—At today's session of the chemical congress, in the section of organic preparations, Prof. Proskauer of Berlin read a paper on the sterilization of drinking water with ozone and on ozone water works, the German electricians having succeeded in producing at small cost a concentrated solution of ozone. The speaker, with Profs. Ohlmueller and Prall of the imperial health office, made exhaustive experiments with the solution in purifying water. The experiments included tests with water artificially impregnated with the deadliest disease germs like typhus, cholera and dysentery. Such water was pumped through the so-called "ozonizing tower," and then rigidly analyzed. All the germs were found to be killed, whereas the ordinary method of sand filters left the germs living. Moreover, the water was greatly improved in quality through the increase of oxygen from the ozone.

Prof. Proskauer said the ozonizing plant was cheaper than the sand filtering system usually used in city water works. Hence the time had come for the general introduction of ozone plants. The town of Weisbaden, added the professor, already has one of these plants which sterilizes 250 cubic metres of water hourly.

Prof. W. Markwald of Berlin showed to the electro-chemical physical section a smudge of dark powder on a piece of paper which was the first time that any of those eminent scientists had seen the metal polonium, discovered by Prof. and Madame Curie of Paris. The latter doubted whether polonium was a primary element or related to bismuth, but Prof. Markwald demonstrated that it was indeed a primary element. He exhibited a bit of metal, weighing 15-100 of a grain, which was produced from two tons of uranium at a cost of $75. It is more sparsely distributed in uranium than xenon, the most rarified gas, is in the atmosphere.

Prof. Markwald proceeded to give a marvelous exhibition of the powers of his speck of polonium. It intercepted a strong current of electricity passing through the air from the generator to the receiver, the air ceasing to be a conductor for the flashes. The room was then darkened and pieces of uranium, plantinum and zinc-blende placed near the polonium glowed with a bright greenish light. The assemblage of chemists were thrilled with astonishment. It appeared to be a miracle.

FLOOD COST KANSAS MANY MILLION DOLLARS

Crops in a Large Area Have Been Ruined and Much Suffering Will Follow.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

KANSAS CITY, June 7.—Kansas has suffered as a result of the recent floods more than any other state. No exact figures of the loss sustained can be given, but those who have an intimate knowledge of the sections submerged and the extent and force of the floods have been making estimates and their conclusions may be considered fairly reliable. The damage done in the principal cities and towns is estimated as follows:

North Topeka, $250,000; Lawrence, $500,000; Saline, $200,000; Manhattan, $150,000; Mamego, $100,000; St. Marys, $10,000; Blue Rapids, $20,000; Clay Center, $20,000; Enterprise, $30,000; Concordia, $35,000; Junction City, $100,000; Solomon, $50,000; Abilene, $50,000; Ellsworth, $20,000; Lindsborg, $150,000; Hutchinson, $100,000; Minneapolis, $100,000; Emporia, $65,000; Florence, $50,000; Lincoln Center, $20,000; Atchison, $100,000; Burlington, $20,000; Hill City, $20,000; Beloit, $20,000; Argentine, $2,000,000; Kansas City, Kan., and suburbs, $8,000,000.

No account has been taken of the smaller towns, although nearly 200 of these were affected by the floods.

The very lowest estimate of the loss done to crops is $5,000,000. Owing to the lateness of the season and the condition of the soil, it is very doubtful if any profit will be drawn during the remainder of the year from the farms which were inundated. As a consequence there will be a great deal of individual want and suffering among farmers upon whom the blow fell heaviest.

All day today gangs of men were at work clearing away the debris of the flood and there will be quite a general resumption in all lines of business tomorrow. The packing plants will start up in a measure tomorrow and all will be in full blast before the week ends.

TOPEKA, KAN., June 7.—The body of Forest Kutz, a school teacher, was found today in the debris left by the flood. It developed that several fertile farms near North Topeka have been entirely ruined. The swift current washed away much of the good soil and in its place has left a thick, hard layer of sand, rendering the ground useless.

ST. LOUIS IN FLOOD'S GRASP

Powerful Levee Gives Way Under Pressure of Water.

TWENTY-FIVE DEAD

Great Devastation in the Mississippi Valley Is Rapidly Increasing.

ALL TRAINS ARE ABANDONED

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

St. Louis, June 7.—With a roar that could be heard blocks away, 2,000 feet of the great mud levee protecting lower East St. Louis from the flood slipped into the Mississippi at 8 o'clock tonight, and the mighty rush of waters swept everything before it over thousands of acres. That some lives were lost in the devastation of this wide area of towns and country there can be no doubt. Had the break occurred farther north, half the town of East St. Louis would have been submerged and the loss of life would have been overwhelming. The situation from Granite City to lower St. Louis tonight is critical in the extreme.

All day thousands of men who toiled without rest through last night, continued their almost hopeless struggle against the flood. Despite all they could do the river encroached further and further upon the tri-cities, upon East St. Louis, the bridges spanning the Mississippi and the Missouri and the valuable railroad and manufacturing properties which line the Mississippi across from St. Louis. One crevasse followed another.

Railroad traffic to St. Louis is stopped. The mails are suspended. Bridge traffic is no more. The approaches to the merchants bridge are eaten away. No trains are running across the Eads bridge. The Big Four and the Chicago & Alton have their western terminus at Alton. Ferryboats consume an hour crossing the river. Madison and Venice are flooded, while large sections of Granite, Brooklyn and East St. Louis are under water. The last trains from St. Louis which passed through Alton had narrow escapes from being wrecked. The Big Four's Knickerbocker special could not get through.

The damage already done on the east side and this side is tremendous. From 12 to 20 lives have been lost. Meanwhile the Mississippi is steadily rising and no man can foretell what the final summing up of the flood will be.

No word was received today from the 200 people imprisoned on a lowland at Black Walnut, 25 miles northwest from St. Louis, and in peril of their lives from the rising waters of the Missouri river. Word was received last night that the rescue must be effected immediately or they probably would be swept away by morning. The river has spread out around the island with a swift current and although every effort has been made to reach them, nothing was accomplished today.

The Speed Eagle, moored at Alton, Ill., was hurriedly manned and started for the imperiled colony late last night, but was forced to turn back at the Bellefontaine bridge. A private yacht here at St. Louis was manned by a company of policemen today, and started for Black Walnut, as the craft sat low enough in the water to pass all bridges. All steam was turned on, but the boat made no headway against the current and after vainly stemming the flood for several hours without making 100 yards, the yacht returned to shore and the venture was abandoned.

BRIDE'S MOTHER KILLS TWO AFTER WEDDING.

HOUSTON, TEX., June 7.—(Special.)—Gus Skillern of Melrose, prosecuted by the daughter of John Miley, a farmer, accompanied by his brother Bob, and his brother-in-law, Wilson Tutt, went to the Miley home and married her. After the ceremony was performed Gus Skillern informed Miley that he did not intend to live with the girl. Mrs. Miley thereupon opened fire with a revolver. The first bullet struck Bob Skillern in the breast and passed through his body, causing instant death. Her next bullet struck Tutt in the back as he ran, inflicting a wound that proved fatal.

LAMBIE MAY BE RIPPED OUT

If Citizens Control Select Council They Will Oust the President.

WIGHTMAN SLATED

Mayor Hays Says That Administration Can Lose Fleming and Still Elect City Clerks.

DOUGLAS MAY BLOCK PLANS

In addition to electing city clerks to succeed Martin and Gearing, the Citizens are planning to rip out of office John S. Lambie, the president of select council, and elect James S. Wightman of the Twenty-second ward in his stead. The abolition of the rump committees of select is also on the program.

Just how much of this program is to be carried out today is not even known by the Citizens members of select. That an effort will be made to elect Hassler and Davis today is settled. When Mayor Hays was asked last night if the Citizens had the necessary 29 votes to force select council to go into joint session with the common branch to elect city clerks, he expressed great confidence in the ability of the administration to win.

"Should President Lambie refuse to allow the clerk to record George S. Fleming of the First ward, will the Citizens have enough votes to adopt a resolution to go into joint session?" was asked.

"He can rule out Fleming if he wants to and we will still win," replied the mayor. "We will have a majority of six or seven."

While the Citizens appear to have enough votes to carry the day, the Republicans are confident of their ability to prevent an election of city clerks. Just how they hope to accomplish a further continuance of the deadlock is their secret, and they are guarding it well. The select branch meets this afternoon at 3 o'clock, and if a joint session is held it will be convened tonight after the common branch assembles at 7:30 o'clock.

Select Councilman William Schempp of the Thirteenth ward is in a peculiar position. His constituents are practically unanimous for the removal of the poorhouse. The administration wants to build the new hospital on the site of the old one. Schempp has declared that he favored the removal. His constituents want him to prove his loyalty by refusing to assist the Bigelow machine unless a promise can be gotten that the poorhouse will be taken out of the ward. There is to be a conference of Thirteenth ward citizens with T. S. Bigelow this morning. If he refuses to interfere, Schempp will find himself in an awkward position in the ward if he votes with the machine in councils this afternoon.

On the authority of one of the Citizens leaders it can be said that the administration forces intend to rip Lambie out of office if they can get a majority of the votes in select. They hold that if it was legal to remove Director E. M. Bigelow, who had been elected by councils for a fixed term, they have the right to oust Lambie from the presidency of select.

The scheme has advanced so far that the successor of Lambie has been chosen. James S. Wightman of the Twenty-second ward is slated. If Bigelow just has 29 votes Wightman cannot be elected. It will be found that R. H. Douglas of the Twenty-first ward will not agree to the selection of Wightman. Douglas will insist that he be named, or will refuse to play. There is good reason for believing that at least two Citizens members will stand with him. Douglas and his friends may also refuse to assist in the abolition of the rump committees.

The Citizens claim to have a promise from James W. Platt, member of select from the Second ward, that he will vote with them on all propositions except the election of city clerks. Tidy claim is not generally credited. Platt has always been a Republican, and his friends say that he will not desert. He has just about completed the erection of a handsome residence in the Twentieth ward and will probably retain his seat in councils in a short time. He will not attempt to participate in the proceedings of the body after he has moved out of the Second ward.

MARRIAGE AN AGENT OF DEGENERACY

A Philadelphia Pastor Preaches a Sensational Sermon.

EVIL PERPETUATED

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Public Ledger Building, PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 7.

In a sermon tonight, inspired by President Roosevelt's declaration in favor of large families, but arguing from the negative side, the Rev. G. Tabor Thompson, pastor of the Spruce Street Baptist church, said he believed in large families only when the husbands and wives are absolutely mated, as Adam and Eve were mated—physically, morally, mentally and socially.

He would have the race in this country multiply first by substraction, to get rid of the bad blood that is cursing the community. Then a thousand names should be blotted out at once, he declared, because of the corruption, physically, of the holders. He wanted a law passed requiring every man and woman contemplating matrimony to go before a properly constituted board, and there undergo as rigid a physical examination as is demanded of those who would serve in the United States army, with a moral, social and intellectual examination as well, and, if found wanting in any respect, to be forever debarred from marriage.

"And I tell you," said the speaker, "that that would mean a multiplication of which the world would be proud. Methuselah lived to be 969 years old, but we have been marrying and intermarrying on the down grade until now the life of the average man is only about 30 years.

"In seeking a mate one should look for physical and moral health. The boy born of a woman who had a craving for alcoholic liquor should not marry and multiply. The criminal should remain a celibate.

"Marriage," said the speaker, "does not necessarily mean mating, and if a couple are not mated their progeny will not replenish the earth. On the contrary the progeny of such mismated couples are now replenishing the drug store, the operating table, the asylum and the grave, but not the earth."

CHESTER D. POTTER.

FEROCIOUS HOUNDS TEAR BOY'S FLESH

Man and Woman Terribly Injured in Attempt to Succor Him.

LAD FATALLY HURT

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Cincinnati, June 7.—Twenty-five hounds kenneled in Inwood park today almost tore to pieces a boy who entered the park. In their efforts to save the boy from being literally eaten alive a man and a woman were badly bitten. All three were saved only by the arrival of a crowd of men, who drove off the dogs with clubs.

The victims are:

JOHN FISHGUS, age 12, fatally injured.

MRS. JULIUS ERNST, bitten about the arms, face and legs.

CHARLES FISSEL, a stable man, bitten about the legs.

Even the horse was attacked by the dogs and driven almost wild. The dogs, it is said, were excited into the attack by the example of one which had suddenly been seized with rabies. The dogs belong to Julius Ernst, a candy maker, who has several kennels in what used to be Inwood park, but which is now deserted. Dogs of late had been missed by Ernst. The little Fishgus boy heard of the whereabouts of some of the dogs and went up to the park to tell the news to Ernst. He had hardly entered the park when the pack of dogs started towards him. He screamed for help and tried to run. This excited the brutes and a score or more swarmed about and dragged him to the ground. Charles Fissel saw the predicament of the boy. He jumped on a horse and rode up the hill and into the midst of the dogs. Some of them turned on Fissell and bit at his legs and even attacked the horse. The horse was frightened and Fissell was compelled to dismount. Mrs. Ernst, wife of the owner of the dogs, came upon the scene and threw herself into the midst of the snarling, biting pack. Failing to drive the dogs away, she threw herself upon the body of the boy and tried to protect him from the teeth of the dogs with her own body.

This was the scene which a crowd of neighbors came upon when they rushed into the park with canes and clubs. They succeeded in driving the dogs away and picked up little Fishgus. He was unconscious and his body was a mass of wounds. The clothes of Mrs. Ernst were nearly torn off and she was badly bitten.

EIGHTY ARE DROWNED IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Property Loss by Flood Is Estimated at Over Three Million Dollars.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 7.—Though the great flood of water is passing on to the ocean laden with debris of every description and the swollen streams are subsiding in the Piedmont region, the losses of life and property are increasing and a conservative estimate tonight places the property loss at not less than $3,500,000. The most conservative estimate of the dead is 80. At Clifton alone 100 operatives are missing from the village and all are believed to have been lost. During today dead bodies were washed ashore here and there, and occasionally a dismembered limb would float to the banks.

B. S. Johnson, reported yesterday as drowned after clinging to a housetop, escaped by catching hold of a tree, and returned today to find his wife and four children drowned.

At Converse 15 dead are reported and 41 at Clifton No. 2. At Clifton No. 2 26 homes were destroyed, 13 at Clifton No. 1 and 20 at Clifton No. 3. The loss at Clifton's three mills will approximate $2,000,000. At Pacolet the loss is near $1,000,000. The greatest want among the survivors is at Clifton, where 500 are destitute.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT GAINS IN ADVOIRDUPOIS.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(Special.)—President Roosevelt, much to his dissatisfaction, now tips the scales at nearly 200 pounds. His long journey resulted in his taking on a great deal of flesh despite the fact that the monotony of the trip was frequently broken by long horseback rides and extended tramps through the mountains. The president's normal weight is about 185 pounds.

BEVERIDGE CONSULTED ON CHINESE QUESTION

President Makes Use of Indiana Senator's Personal Knowledge of the Situation.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, who came here on the president's special train, returned yesterday to his home in Indianapolis. When he joined the president in the west recently he expected to stop off when he reached his home, but at the president's request he continued on to Washington.

President Roosevelt's reason for asking the senator to accompany him to Washington was that he might have the opportunity to discuss the Manchurian situation. About a year ago Senator Beveridge made a trip to the far east and spent considerable time in studying the conditions in China. Upon his return home he wrote a series of articles for a magazine in which he predicted the complications which have since come to pass in that country. He showed that he was familiar with Russia's policy and intentions and this fact made his advice and counsel valuable to the president, who, during his two months' trip through the west, has not been able to keep as thoroughly informed on the subject as he might if he had been in Washington.

From Indianapolis to Washington a great portion of the time was occupied by the president in listening to Senator Beveridge's description of the Manchurian conditions and to his theories as to the best policy for this country to pursue.

GRUDGE FOUGHT OUT.

Characteristic Kentucky Sunday Affray Results in Killing of Two Men.

MAYKING, KY., June 7.—(Special.)—A general fight at Hardshell Baptist meeting broken up and two persons killed, was the record for yesterday at Stony Point. For some time a feud has existed between Lem, Sam and Robert Ramey, brothers, and Pat Boatright and J. Patrick Hagan, Jr., son of the Hon. Patrick Hagan, politician. Yesterday they met, all heavily armed. The battle waged half an hour, during which time J. Patrick Hagan was shot dead, Pat Boatright mortally wounded and Lem Ramey received a serious wound.

Robert and Sam Ramey disappeared into the mountains, leaving word that if officers came for them they had just as well bring their coffins.

FATAL SHOOTING ENDED MARRIAGE CELEBRATION.

WHEELING, W. VA., June 7.—(Special.)—Angered because his cousin paid marked attention to a young woman with whom he himself was enamored, Joseph Seachy shot twice at Michael Seachy and killed Joseph Kesma, an innocent bystander, who was a close friend of both men, at a marriage celebration at Maynard today. The first ball entered the breast of his cousin and inflicted a dangerous wound. The second struck Kesma under the eye and passed through his brain. A constable managed to overtake Seachy before a mob caught him.

HAYS AFTER MEMBERS OF VOTERS' CIVIC LEAGUE

Mayor Says That Several of Them Are Renting Houses in the Lower Wards for Improper Purposes.

"We have the syndicate that has been leasing disorderly houses about broken," said Mayor Hays last night. "I am now in possession of the names of the owners of the dwellings, and I am fully informed as to the exorbitant rentals being charged. Many tenants have to pay $150 a week.

"I was surprised to discover that several members of the Voters' Civic league, the organization that criticised me last week, are owners of houses rented to keepers of disorderly places. Those men as well as other landlords are being notified that they must find new tenants. If the order is not promptly complied with prosecutions will follow.

"In my opinion the punishment cannot be too severe for the members of the syndicate that has grown rich at the expense of these unfortunate women."

The attention of the mayor was called to the statement of Director Harry Moore of the department of public safety, that the illegal sale of liquor in disorderly houses was to be stopped. The director said that the method of procedure was left to the mayor.

"It is true that we intend to stop the sale of liquor," said Mayor Hays. "City Solicitor Rodgers is determining on a plan. The law department has had so many questions referred to it this year, partly there are delays in getting decisions. In my opinion we will have taken a long step toward the suppression of the social evil problem when we have stopped the sale of liquor."

AMERICAN JEWS MUST HELP THEIR BRETHREN IN EUROPE

Kishineff Massacre Emphasizes Demand for Immediate Action, Says Gottheil.

BIG ZIONIST MASS MEETING

Jewish Regeneration and a Permanent Home the Keynote—New Constitution Submitted at Business Session—Rabbi Emil G. Hirsch Did Not Arrive.

"We are striving for the regeneration of the Jews as a people among people, as a nation among nations. For nineteen centuries we have hoped for a country where our oppressed brethren can worship God as the Jews believe. He should be worshiped. The time has come for action. It is for some one among us to formulate a plan whereby our people can be together, as other nations are."

In these words by Prof. Richard Gottheil of Columbia university, New York, president of the Federation of American Zionists, at a mass meeting in the Bijou theater last night, the keynote of the sixth annual convention of the federation now in session in Central Turner hall, Forbes street, was struck. Continuing Prof. Gottheil said:

"In this country, a country that fought so strenuously for liberty, the feelings of another people who are fighting for liberty can best be understood. We, in this country, have a protecting flag to point to. What flag can our brethren in Europe point to? It is for them we are fighting, their salvation for which we are giving our best and holiest efforts.

"The recent outrage on our people by the Russians in Kishineff but emphasizes the more that it is time for us to act. There are between five and seven million of your brethren who are downtrodden, who live in daily dread of their lives and honor, as well. They cry out to us from across the waters for help.

A HOME FOR THE JEWS.

"We must secure a home for those Jews who cannot live in the country of their adoption. The Christian people of the world must protest against wholesale massacre of the Jews in the name of humanity. They will be obeyed where our protest would prove useless. But, nevertheless, our work is to help the unfortunate of our race, to provide a home for the homeless."

The speaker then turned his gaze about the platform, which was filled with delegates, and then looked over the large audience. He spoke of a missing face, of a man who either could not or did not care to be present at the meeting to lend his voice in protest against the persecution of the Jews. Prof. Gotthell termed him as "one of Pittsburgh's foremost Hebrews." Those present understood that he referred to the Rev. J. Leonard Levy, rabbi of the Reform congregation Rodeph Shalom who is not affiliated with the Zionists. Mr. Levy is out of the city.

THEATER WAS CROWDED.

Every seat was taken and all the available space in both the auditorium and on the stage was occupied by the crowd that attended the meeting. The audience was enthusiastic throughout, and as each speaker referred to the regeneration of the Jews or to the establishment of a permanent home for them the statement was cheered to the echo.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. Julius H. Greenstone of Philadelphia, and then former Judge Josiah Cohen made a short address before assuming the chair. Mr. Cohen's remarks were largely in connection with the Kishineff disaster and he introduced Prof. Gotthell as the first speaker. The professor was followed by Congressman H. Kirke Porter.

Mr. Porter's address was devoted mainly to the freedom of the Jews in America as compared with other countries. He touched on the Kishineff massacre and stated that the "sentiment of America is individual liberty and freedom." This statement was the occasion of hearty applause.

Other speeches of the evening were made by the Rev. John A. Jayne, pastor of the Observatory Hill Christian church, Allegheny; the Rev. Dr. Adolph M. Radin, who spoke in German, the Rev. Leon Zotolkoff of Chicago, who spoke in Yiddish, and the Rev. H.Masllanski.

During the evening songs and musical selections were interspersed. "By the River of Babylon," and the Jewish national anthem, by the Rev. H. Pereira Mendes, to the air of "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," were sung in stirring style by a chorus of mixed voices. The chorus was directed by the Rev. J. Bloom and Simon Shei was accompanist.

RABBI HIRSCH NOT PRESENT.

The one feature that marred the great success of the mass meeting was the non-appearance of the Rev. Dr. Emil G. Hirsch, of Chicago, a delegate to the convention and a Hebrew rabbi of international fame. It was expected that he would be present and make an address, the importance of which was regarded as equal to the address by President Gotthell. It is understood that he was detained in Chicago by pressing religious engagements and that he will be here today.

The first business session of the sixth annual convention opened in Central Turner hall, Forbes street, at 10 o'clock in the morning. When the convention was called to order about 150 delegates were present and the gallery was filled with visitors. The auditorium was beautifully decorated with the colors of the federation, blue and white. American flags and the flag of the federation were hung about the walls in great numbers. The stage was filled with palms and two large flags, one the American emblem and the other the flag of the Zionists.

WELCOMED TO CITY.

The delegates were welcomed to the city by Assistant City Solicitor L. S. Levin in behalf of Mayor Hays. He stated that the best wishes of the mayor were with them and he hoped when they left the city it would be with many fond recollections. The delegates were also welcomed on behalf of the managements of many of the great industrial plants, who gave them wishes for the success of their work.

Prof. Gotthell occupied the chair and made the principal address. He reviewed the work of the various societies throughout the country and congratulated them on the great progress they had made during the year. The national fund was spoken of, and he urged that it be kept growing. Allusion was made to the terrible massacre of the Jews in Kishineff and other Russian towns, and he said that the American Jews must help their suffering brothers, who are wholly destitute and need the help that the prosperous Americans can well give.

LETTERS AND TELEGRAMS READ.

Secretary Jacob DeHaas read letters to the convention from Rabbi Theodore Hertz, the well-known Hebrew, and one from Israel Zangwill, the Hebrew poet and novelist. At the mention of these names the applause was deafening. A short letter was received from Clarence I. Solo, president of the Federation of Canadian Zionists, which was read. A number of telegrams from societies throughout the country were read. The letters urged upon the convention the necessity of helping the persecuted Jews in Russia.

The report of the permanent committee was read, which set forth rules governing the convention. A beautiful ivory gavel was presented to the presiding officer.

The financial report showed that after a great many expenditures a balance of $237 76 was left in the treasury. Prof. Nepthali H. Imber, the poet and a writer on educational subjects, was present at the convention.

The most important subject taken up by the convention at the afternoon session was that of amendments to the constitution. Practically a new constitution has been submitted and was before the convention in printed form. This the delegates discussed and several amendments were adopted. Article ix., section 3, was amended to provide that instead of the societies paying their contributions to the federation annually they shall pay semi-annually.

AN AMENDED CONSTITUTION.

The amended constitution provides that the name of the organization shall be the Federation of American Zionists. The objects are to act as the landes comite of the United States under the organization of the Zionist congress; to act as the medium of communication between the American Zionists and the general executive committee appointed by the Zionist congress; to advise on necessary steps and initiate plans for carrying into effect the resolutions of the Zionist congress.

Membership shall consist of such organizations in the United States as approve the Basle program or desire to promote the establishment of a legally safeguarded home in Palestine for the Jewish people; the fostering of the national ideal in Israel; the supporting of existing colonies and the founding of new colonies of Jews in Palestine; the fostering of the knowledge of the Hebrew as a living tongue.

Provision is made for societies to affiliate with the federation, fixing the dues, fees, etc. The minimum federation due is 25 cents for each member, and the same sum is fixed as the shekel contribution.

The administration of the federation is vested in an executive council and a board of deputies, with offices in New York. Representation in the federation is regulated on a basis of one delegate to each 25 members up to the first 100 and one for each 50 above that number.

The executive council shall fix the time and place for the annual convention and provision is made to give all subordinate societies ample notice of the business to be considered and opportunity to participate in the nomination of officers, etc. The executive council must meet once a month and has power to make by-laws for the federation and the board of deputies.

KISHINEFF RESOLUTIONS.

The resolutions of the executive committee were read by Dr. Leon Magnus of Philadelphia. The resolutions say that the barbarous outrages that have so lately happened in Russia have shown the weak and defenseless position of the Jewish nation and has shown that the Jewish people in Russia are in constant personal danger. It also said that in the interest of humanity the congregations of the Jewish people in America should hear the cries of their brothers in distress.

When Dr. Magnus had finished reading he said that the resolutions had his most earnest support and he hoped the convention would accept them. The Rev. Julius H. Greenstone of Philadelphia said that the American Jew could give not only bread to the victims of the massacre, but also the liberty they so desire. The resolutions were then adopted.

PROGRAM FOR TODAY.

The morning session today will open at 9 o'clock and continue until noon. There will be a debate on the amended constitution and a debate on resolutions. The afternoon session will be from 2 to 6. There will be papers and discussions on the Jewish educational question as follows:

"The Education of the Jewish Girl," Miss Henrietta Szold; "How Can We Teach Hebrew?" the Rev. Adolph M. Radin; "Hebrew and Education," Dr. Benderley; "The Rationale of Modern Judaism," paper by Dr. Max Heller, and "The Aimlessness of American Jewish Education." Unfinished and miscellaneous business will then be taken up.

The Zionist societies of Pittsburgh will tender a banquet to the delegates at Turner hall at 8 o'clock tonight. The affair will be most elaborate. The last session will be held tomorrow morning at which the most important business will be the election of officers. In the afternoon the delegates will go sightseeing and in the evening they will be given a lawn fete at Kenwood lawn by the Zionists of Pittsburgh.

FIGHT OVER A COW PUT TOWN IN PANIC

CENTRAL CITY, W. VA., June 7.—(Special.)—Services in the various churches here this afternoon were broken up by the blowing of what was thought to be fire whistles, but it proved to be a police call to quell a fight between two citizens, brought about by one man trying to lock up his neighbor's cow because the animal had played havoc with some shade trees. Women in the vicinity ran to a brewery and requested that a general alarm be sent to the police. This industry gave a few shrill whistles and soon all the whistles in the town had taken up the call. People made a stampede from the houses of worship thinking the entire town was being consumed by fire. In the excitement the cow was lost sight of.

MRS. KOUNTZ IN DANGER OF DEATH

Wound Inflicted by Her Husband When He Killed Walsh in a Bad Conditon.

PHYSICIANS ARE ALARMED

Danger of Blood Poisoning—Woman Was in a Bad State Last Night and Her Temperature Was High—Patient Is Worried and Annoyed.

Mrs. Margaret Kountz, who was shot by her husband when he killed Contractor John E. Walsh on May 89, is dangerously ill at the Homeopathic hospital. Inflammation has set in in the wound in her jaw and last night her condition was alarming. The physician operated on her wound yesterday afternoon and scraped the effected part of the bone. Last night her temperature was 103 and the hospital authorities were apprehensive about blood poisoning.

After Mrs. Kountz was released from jail she took up her quarters in the Lincoln hotel. It was against the physicians' advice that she left the hospital. Thursday her jaw became painful and she was compelled to return to the hospital. It was discovered that she had taken cold in her jaw, and the part where the bullet grooved through had become inflamed. Every effort was made to reduce the inflammation, and prevent blood poisoning.

Saturday the wound became worse and Mrs. Kountz grew weaker. Although suffering greatly Mrs. Kountz does not forget that it was her husband who inflicted her injuries. She censures him for shooting her and causing her present suffering.

Mrs. Kountz sent for Alderman William Walsh, a brother of the dead contractor, yesterday, but he refused to answer the summons. This annoyed Mrs. Kountz and caused her to fret and worry considerable. County Detective Robert G. Robinson said last night that Mrs. Kountz would be summoned to appear against her husband as soon as she was able to leave the hospital, on a charge of felonious assault and battery.

Walter P. Kountz will be tried on that charge and afterward will be arraigned for shooting and killing Walsh.

NEGROES WARNED TO LEAVE

Belleville Population Incensed at the Race Because of Shooting of Hertel.

BELLEVILLE, ILL., June 7.—(Special.)—This has been the most exciting day Belleville has known in years, as the result of the lynching of David J. Wyatt, the East St. Louis school teacher, who fatally shot the Hon. Charles Hertel, superintendent of schools of St. Clair county, Saturday evening. Fully 10,000 strangers visited the public square and viewed the sight of one of the most horrible deaths Illinois has ever known. Crowds came from all sections of Southern Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas and Kentucky. Only the charred telephone pole and bit of unconsumed flesh of the unfortunate Wyatt remained for their view.

No action has been taken by Acting Governor Northcott to apprehend the lynchers. The feeling against the some 500 colored residents of the city is intense. Not one of them is safe. All have been warned to leave, but they do not heed the advice.

MISS ROOSEVELT JOKES AT FATHER'S EXPENSE

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(Special.)—The latest met of the president's daughter, Alice, who's clever speeches are told everywhere, has created much amusement among her friends. At a recent luncheon a young daughter of a former cabinet officer, who has lived abroad, told of an Italian cabman she met in her travels who boasted that he had been married 25 years and that his wife had borne him 20 children in that time. Miss Alice said: "How father would love that man."

FOG LIFTS AND LINERS REACH THEIR BERTHS

NEW YORK, June 7.—Brisk showers this morning and throughout the day cleared away the dense pall of smoke-laden fog that overhung the city for two days and permitted the foghound fleet of incoming Atlantic liners that lay off the bar all last night to pass in Sandy Hook. Among those were the Cunarders Lucania and Carpathia, which lay at anchor outside for 30 hours. The St. Paul of the American line and La Bretagne of the French line reached port just as the fog was lifting.

SIX VICTIMS OF TOY PISTOLS IN THIS VICINITY IN ONE WEEK

Six deaths from lock-jaw in a week as a result of injuries inflicted by toy pistols should be a warning to young Americans on the Fourth of July. Another death occurred yesterday, when Ruben Lewis, 15 years old, of No. 3126 Liberty avenue, died at the West Penn hospital. He shot himself in the left hand on Friday with a toy pistol. The boy had a blank cartridge in the small revolver and was shooting it in the air. While adjusting the revolver he snapped the trigger and the contents of the cartridge were discharged in his hand. He was taken to the hospital and blood-poisoning set in and he died last night.

The other victims were Bert Shakespeare, 10 years old, of Millvale, who died Friday; Fred McGlinnigle, 11 years old, of No. 2416 Carnegie street, who died on the same day; Richard Sloan, 8 years old, of Carnegie, and Adam Benert, 11 years old, of Braddock, who died Thursday; Wilbert Armstrong, 9 years old, of No. 1525 Finance street, who died Wednesday of injuries received the day before.

KILLED WHILE SITTING COMFORTABLY IN A CAR

Peculiar Street Railway Accident—Man Fell With Ax in His Pocket, Which Caused Fatal Cut—Walked Off a Roof.

Killed while sitting comfortably in a street car, imagining himself safe, was the fate of Philip House, aged 22, of Sharpsburg. House died at the Mercy hospital from injuries received Saturday in an accident at the Carnegie car barn. Motorman Henry Norathy, on car No. 1648, on taking his car from the barn, had crossed over the westbound track and had not yet closed the switch, when car No. 1651, run by George Wishart, from Pittsburgh, containing about 25 passengers, ran into the open switch, sideswiping the other car. House was sitting on the back of a seat near the motorman, and when the cars crashed together he was thrown against the other car and in some manner was fatally injured, his head and chest being crushed.

Henry Berlinger, aged 24, of Lower St. Clair township, died at the South Side hospital yesterday morning from injuries received in a peculiar accident. He was employed in the Keystone Brewing Company, and on Tuesday boarded a street car to go home. As the car was passing between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets in Carson street, South Side, Berlinger fell off the rear platform. He was thrown against the curbing. He had a hatchet in his pocket, and when he was picked up it was found that the blade had been forced into his left lung. Berlinger was married about a year ago and leaves a widow.

Henry Gallagher, living in the boarding house of Lizzie Ringlespaw, No. 1008 Beaver avenue, stepped out of the attic window on to a roof and later fell to the pavement, a distance of 35 feet. The accident occurred about 2:45 yesterday morning and he was found shortly after. He was removed to the Allegheny General hospital, where he died two hours later. His body was removed to the morgue. He was a heater in Liggetts mill and was 29 years of age and single. Manchester Lodge 403, I. O. O. F., of which Gallagher was a member, took charge of his body.

After considerable difficulty, one of the many "unknowns" at the morgue was identified yesterday. It was the body of Thomas Flonegan of Carey alley and South Twenty-ninth street, the identification being made by Daniel Gathaney, who lives in the same house in which Finnegan resided.

A section watchman found the trunk of a body at Porters crossing, just below the Neville Island bridge, at 2 o'clock Friday morning. Fifty yards farther on he found the head, and about half a mile farther found an arm and leg. The severed body was gathered up and sent to the morgue, and as there were no papers on the clothes, the corpse was marked as an unknown. Yesterday afternoon Deputy Coroner Carney, after seeing the severed head arranged, thought he looked like Finnegan. He sent word to Finnegan's house, and last night Gathaney called at the morgue and identified him. The dead man was 28 years old and single. He was a catcher and worked at one of Jones & Laughlin's rolling mills. Finnegan had left home Thursday night to visit a married sister at New Castle.

ploded, intensifying the horrors. For a few moments the victims were seen struggling in the sea, then the waves closed over them and all was silent. Of about 200 passengers who were aboard the Liban it is feared that at least one-half were drowned.

The Balkan launched three boats and the other vessels did all possible to save the victims in the short time that elapsed between the time of the collision and the sinking of the Liban.

The list of the passengers on board the Liban has not yet been issued, the offices of the Fraissenet Company being closed, but it is said that over 200 embarked at this port.

It is stated that the collision was due to the following circumstances: The Liban was putting out to sea just as the steamer Insulaire was making for the harbor. Marc Island, which lies off the entrance to the port, hid the vessels from each other until it was too late to avoid a collision.

One of the survivors, a passenger, gives the following details of the disaster: "The weather was splendid when we steamed out of Marseilles harbor, and all the passengers were below at table when the shrieking of whistles gave the alarm.

"On coming on deck I saw the Insulaire approaching us at full speed. The captain gave several orders, but no attempt apparently was made to change the steamer's course. Some of the passengers reproached the captain for his negligence in this matter.

"When the Insulaire crashed into us a great panic prevailed on board. Attempts were made to lower the boats, but only one boat was got away, and in that I and a few others escaped to the Bleichamp. As the vessel sank, bow first, the passengers took refuge on the after deck, which was covered by an awning. This, as the Liban foundered, became a cage in which the passengers were caught and dragged down beneath the waters."

Many of the rescued were badly injured in the collision. The Insulaire sustained considerable damage to her bows, but managed to reach port safely. Thousands of persons gathered round the morgue, hospitals and on the quays throughout the evening. Thus far only four bodies have been identified.

against the claim of Hunter's sister, the company, after carrying the case to the supreme court of the United States, was obliged in last June to pay not only the amount of the insurance, $15,000, but also a penalty imposed in the state of Texas upon every litigant against a claim judicially found to be just, and other costs, which made its loss about $25,000. Besides that, it has spent $10,000 upon its investigation of the case. That investigation, however, is still in progress, although the proof of William A. Hunt's identity with William A. Hunter is declared to be beyond all question.

A bill of equity was filed at Dallas, Texas, May 19, in the United States circuit court for the northern district of Texas, by Maurice E. Locke, attorney for the Fidelity Insurance Company, to set aside its former judgment in favor of Hunter's sister on the ground of fraud and asking for a decree for the return of all the moneys whomsoever received which were paid over in obedience to that judgment.

SISTER UNDER SURVEILLANCE.

The sister of Hunter is kept under surveillance, and if she attempts to leave her present place of residence will be arrested. Application will be made tomorrow to the supreme court of Alabama for a mandamus which will enable the Texas authorities to get possession of Hunter. After that his trial and punishment, it is believed, will quickly follow.

The detailed story of this strange case of L. G. Fous, president of the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company, and from the bill in equity mentioned above is as follows:

In the latter part of October, 1896, William A. Hunter, then residing in Reeves county, Texas, took out three policies of insurances on his own life in favor of his widowed sister, Mrs. Jennie M. Metler, now Smythe, amounting to $15,000. He represented to Capt. Andrew J. Brown, the company's general agent at Dallas, that he was a farmer and real estate dealer, that he and his brother-in-law, then deceased, had bought a large tract of land in the Pecos valley, for which they had contracted a heavy debt, and that he wished in the event of his own death to save his sister from utter ruin.

STATEMENTS WERE FALSE.

Every one of these statements, the company now declare, was false. Hunter made one payment to the company's agent of $97 85 as the first semi-annual premium on November 7, 1896. The bill in equity contains this narrative.

Hunter was born in Licking county, O., and is about 40 years of age. His parents still reside there. Their standing in the community is excellent. Two sisters of the prisoner are living at the old home. Hunter's occupation in Texas, before he entered upon the insurance scheme, was that of clerk in a general store at Fort Worth. The full story of his wanderings after his flight from Texas is not yet known.

TULLOCH DENIES MERRITT CHARGES

Says Nearly All the Federal Government Payrolls Are Signed in Blank.

NECESSITY FOR IT EXPLAINED

Asserts That He Offered to Straighten Out Books for Postmaster Willett for Nothing—Does Not Desire Governmental Position—Replies to Heath.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Seymour W. Tulloch, formerly cashier of the Washington city postoffice, has written a letter to Postmaster General Payne in response to replies received from Postmaster Merritt of the Washington postoffice and others, to the charges of maladministration, made by Mr. Tulloch against the management of the local postoffice.

A large part of Mr. Tulloch's letter is in defense of counter charges made by Mr. Merritt against Mr. Tulloch. Mr. Tulloch says that the charge that under his regime as cashier of the Washington postoffice quarterly payrolls were required to be signed in blank, even if true, would not "produce a smile in Washington where probably the greater portion of governmental employes sign payrolls in blank."

He says that at the time of payment all figures had been previously filled in and that false payments could have been detected easily and fraud was impossible. The charge "that a false voucher" had been put in while Mr. Tulloch was cashier, he says, was only an attempt to discredit him, and even Mr. Merritt admits that the transaction was discovered by the postmaster, recognized by the assistant postmaster and the money retained paid to persons duly designated."

The facts, however, he says, are that substitutes named by the civil service commission serve in the postoffice without pay, except when they fill temporarily the places of clerks and receive their pay. As some clerks failed to pay their substitutes, the postmaster directed that previous to payment of clerks who had been absent the signed receipt in full of the substitute should be put in the clerk's pay envelope and the amount it called for retained and paid to the substitute by his division superintendent.

Mr. Tulloch declares that while in office he did report irregularities to his immediate superiors and the inspectors. He denies the charge that he was mercenary with the late postmaster, Mr. Willet, and says Mr. Willet himself suggested payment to the writer for settling his accounts and that he offered to do it for Mr. Willet personally for nothing, but later it was arranged some of the clerks should do the work, which related chiefly to Porto Rico.

As to the reply of former First Assistant Postmaster General Heath Mr. Tulloch says: "All that is necessary is to compare my specific charges with his general denial." He then reaffirms that his representations remain in all essential particulars true and not disproved and closes with a denial that there is any office within the gift of the postoffice department that he would accept or that he ever authorized his friends to seek his reinstatement.

WAITING AT THE CROSS

Denies That Ralph Waldo Emerson Originated Christian Science and Reviews Her Own History as an Authoress.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CONCORD, N. H., June 7.—Recent claims that Ralph Waldo Emerson is the author of Christian science has called forth the following statement from Mary Baker G. Eddy:

To Whom It Concerns:

I was early the pupil of Miss Farah J. Bodwell, the principal of Sanborton academy of New Hampshire, and finished my course of studies under Prof. Dyer H. Sanborn, author of Sanborn's grammar. Among my early studies were Comstock's natural philosophy, chemistry, Blair's Rhetoric, Whately's Logic, Watts on the Mind and moral science.

At 16 years of age I began writing for leading newspapers, and for many years wrote for the best magazines in the south and north. I have lectured in large and crowded halls in New York city, Boston, Portland and at Waterville college, and have been invited to lecture in London and Edinburgh.

In 1883 I started the Christian Science Journal, and for several years was the proprietor and sole editor of that journal. In 1892 Judge E. J. Hanna became editor of the Christian Science Journal, and for 10 subsequent years he knew my ability as an editor. In his recent lecture at Chicago he said: "Mrs. Eddy is, from every point of view, a woman of sound education and liberal culture."

Agassiz, the celebrated naturalist and author, wisely said:

"Every great scientific truth goes through three stages. First, people say it conflicts with the Bible, next, they say it has been discovered before; lastly they say they have always believed it."

The first attack upon me was: "Mrs. Eddy misinterprets the Scriptures;" second, "She has stolen the contents of her book, 'Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures,' from one P. P. Quimby (an obscure, uneducated man), and he is the founder of Christian Science."

Trailing in these attempts the calumniator has resorted to Ralph Waldo Emerson, a pitiful catchy as the authority for Christian Science.

Lastly the defamer will declare as honestly (?): "I have always known it."

I am rated in the National Magazine (1903) as "standing the eighth in a list of 22 of the foremost living authors."

I claim no special merit of any kind. All that I am in reality God has made me. I will wait at the cross to learn definitely more from my great Master, but not of the Greek nor of the Roman schools—simply how to do His deeds.

FAMILY IS HOPEFUL OF M'KENNA'S RECOVERY

The improvement in the condition of former Major Bernard McKenna, mentioned in The Gazette on Saturday, continued yesterday, and last night members of Mr. McKenna's family said he was resting easy and the improvement was more marked. Of course, Mr. McKenna's health has been critical at times for some months, and while his family have hopes of ultimate recovery, they are prepared for the worst.

Boy Burned to Death.

WASHINGTON, PA., June 7. (Special.)—Charles Moffitt, 5 years old, of Fredericktown, died yesterday as a result of burns inflicted by 6-year-old James Haddon. The boys were gathering ferns near Moffitt's home, when Haddon struck a match and playfully threw it at Moffitt. The lad's blouse was ignited.

Better Than Champagne.

A good story is told of a St. Louis gentleman. A friend of his sent him a case of Red Raven Splits. It arrived while he was absent from home. His wife opened the box and seeing all the dainty bottles mistook it for champagne. She told her husband on his return that he had been presented with a case of wine. He being a genial fellow went to the telephone and called a few friends.

In the evening when they came to open the wine the mistake was of course discovered. A prominent physician who was among the guests broke into a cry of delight. "Why," he said, "this is providential. This beats champagne all to pieces. There is nothing that acts so gently on the liver, tones the stomach and gives a man such a feeling of health as Red Raven Splits. It is justly called the Prince of Aperients, and taken in the morning after a dinner or banquet will surely cleanse the system and put one right for the day's work." He pulled the cork and poured the sparkling water into a glass. "I do not think champagne could be more beautiful," he added, "or half as efficacious." They all agreed, and each man took home a dainty bottle as a souvenir.

MOVING A MANSION.

$50,000 Structure Being Transferred Piecemeal from Michigan to Massachusetts.

BOSTON, June 7.—(Special.)—Piece by piece the half million dollar mansion of Millionaire John H. Longyear has begun to come to Brookline from Marquette, Mich. It will take several months for the entire structure, nearly stone, to be transported east, and then it will be built again on a magnificent site which Mr. Longyear bought last December on the fashionable Boston suburb.

Yesterday 16 carloads of the house arrived and all day teams were busy hauling the material to Brookline. The entire work of transporting and re-building the mansion will occupy about 18 years. As each piece of stone or woodwork in the house is taken down it is carefully marked and upon arrival here is placed in a pile, where the builders can easily find it.

Woman Tells of Jewish Massacre.

PHILADELPHIA, June 7.—(Special.)—Trembling with emotion and frequently bursting into tears, Mrs. Tessie Lea Furman, the first survivor of the Kishineff atrocities to arrive in Philadelphia, gave today a graphic description of the massacre of the Jews in that city on Easter Sunday and the days following. Surrounded by her children, four boys and a little girl, Mrs. Furman reverently told the story to hundreds of friends.

DEBRIS OF RIOT NOW A MONUMENT

Farmer Hays Erects a Cairn Composed of Rocks Thrown at Negroes by Angry Mob.

QUIET SUNDAY AT HIGH BRIDGE

Less Than 100 Persons View the Scene of Attempted Lynching in West Liberty—Officials Subpena a Young Man Who Was Posing as a Hero.

To the surprise of the residents of West Liberty borough, the expected throng of sightseers to view the famous chicken coop in which the negro gamblers were besieged by a mob on the preceding Sunday did not materialize yesterday. There was no baseball game. The West Liberty authorities had not prohibited ball playing, but rain had made the grounds muddy and the Beltzhoover seniors and juniors decided not to play. Not more than 100 strangers were in the neighborhood all day.

Exclusive of a crowd of boys, not more than a half-dozen persons went out to see the chicken coop, so W. B. Hays, the owner of the farm, said. The few sightseers had to view the scene of the battle from afar, for Hays has repaired his fence and guarded his gate so that nobody can get into the yard. Mr. Hays spent the day on his porch, recuperating from the labors of the past week. He had been kept busy repairing the ravages of the mob, digging up the ground that had been trampled down and replanting onions and cabbages and tomatoes in the place of those destroyed. He will present a bill to the county for the damage caused by the mob.

In memory of the exciting affray Hays has erected a monument alongside the chicken coop. It is three feet high, with a circular base of four feet in diameter, and it consists of a pyramidal pile of stones with which the would-be lynchers bombarded the temporary citadel of Kelly and Davis, the negroes who took refuge there. The monument is on the very spot where "Sandy" Garrett, the negro leader of the mob, fell with a bullet through his heart, although he lived three days longer at the hospital.

County Detective Robert C. Robinson and Constable Francis J. Cavanaugh of Alderman John Groetzinger's office were out yesterday looking for witnesses, and they found one in a rather amusing manner. Robinson and Cavanaugh were walking up the valley in which the riot began, just behind a young man sauntering with two girls, who hung interestedly on every word he said.

"There's where the trouble began," said the young fellow, "And there is where the negroes ran, chased by the crowd. I was right there, Johnny-on-the-spot, you know, just a few yards from the hindmost negro. The crowd chased them into the chicken house, me running along. I tell you it was exciting, and the way the stones and the bullets flew was a caution."

The girls were gazing admiringly at the young man, when Robinson called him aside.

"Where did you say the trouble began?" asked Robinson.

The boy pointed out the spot.

"And you saw it all?" insinuated Robinson.

"Every bit of it," replied the boy, proudly.

"What's your name?" said the county detective.

"Why?" was the answer.

"Well, I'm Robinson, the county detective, and this is Constable Cavanaugh."

The boy turned red, and after some hesitation told his name, which Robinson will not give out for publication.

"You'd better put the 'junior' to that," said the witness, "for if I get the old man into it, I'll catch the devil."

So Robinson took down the name and will tell the coroner where he can find the young chap. Robinson surmises that during the rest of his walk with the girls the young man had something quite interesting to tell.

SLASHED WITH A KNIFE.

Fight in Allegheny in Which One Man Was Cut and Six Took Part.

A fight occurred Saturday night on Nixon street, Allegheny, during which two men were badly cut and one man's clothes were slashed into shreds. Six men were implicated and were arrested by Lieut. Robert Dickson and Officer John Cullen.

What started the trouble could not be learned. People who reside in that vicinity say the men had been drinking and got into a dispute. It ended in a free-for-all fight, in which Michael Schuleon took out a large knife and slashed right and left. He is alleged to have inflicted a deep gash in the groin of Henry Selerick. The latter was removed to the Allegheny General hospital. Frank Sudyman was terribly cut about the hands and arms, and the clothes of John Houerholdt were made to look like ribbons in addition to his having several knife wounds.

Those arrested were Paul Domen, Frank Sudyman, Henry Selerick, John Houerholdt, John Schuleon and Michael Schuleon. They will be given a hearing this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct. Assistant Superintendent of Police John Glenn will make information against Michael Schuleon charging him with felonious cutting.

The Most Prominent of Today's Special Sales.

And the Sections of This Monday Bulletin Can Be Taken as a Forecast for the Entire Week.

In "A Tale of Two Cities" Dickens begins that powerful novel with a singular sentence—"It was the worst of times, it was the best of times." We know of no words that can apply so forcefully to this store at the present time—the worst of times—for us—a new addition to the store being pushed with all possible rapidity, a portion of our present floor space taken from us to help along the work of the new building, in a word everything at sixes and sevens; the best of times for old and new customers of this store—everything, surplus stocks as well as new invoices coming in, sold at greatly reduced prices.

Today's specials are worthy of being met as early as possible—that is, if the reader belongs to that large class which goes in for saving whenever the opportunity presents itself.

Colored Dress Linens Half Prices.

20c a Yard Instead of 40c.

Nothing like being on the spot to clinch something real good. Buyer of dress goods in New York last week. An importer offered 3,000 yards at 40c a yard 32-inch wide Natural Dress Linen and 32-inch wide Natural Linen with neat stripes of delft blue, red and black, at a price which enables us to sell them for 20c a yard.

Buy them for the serviceable dust coat, buy them for children's dresses and separate waists.

The June Sale of Lingerie.

Rarely has such an opportunity been presented to women to buy exquisite undermuslins, and all styles of housegarments, for such moderate prices. While garments of the finest handwork are included in this sale, we mention here only the medium grades and endeavor to illustrate how very little money it takes to get a complete outfit.

Take the price of 25c.

For the even dollar we are selling women's Nightgowns, low neck and elbow sleeves, trimmed with Val. lace and insertion, edge finished with ribbon; or trimmings of embroidery and feather stitching; or cambric gowns, high neck, yoke of solid tucks and hemstitching and embroidery; or embroidered yoke.

Summer Woolens.

A little list of the more prominent numbers together with several strong specials:

The colored Mohairs are here in a range of 50c and up to $2 a yard—among them the popular navy and cream.

The new pin-dot mohair—navy, red, cream, and black with white dots—at 50c a yard, is the most suggestive material for the stunning bathing suit we know of.

Shepherd Check Suitings—blue, brown and black—40 to 46-inch widths—65c, 75c, 85c and up to $1.25 a yard.

Navy etamines, very desirable for Summer—some women prefer them to voile—46-inch widths—75c a yard.

Here's four numbers—each reduced to 60c a yard—choose and let us know what you think of the bargain.

$1 a yard Fancy Etamines.....
85c a yard Imported Voiles.....
75c a yard Crepela.....
40 to 47-inch widths.....

White Dress Cottons.

The oldest inhabitant could not recall a season when white cottons were in such great demand. Hardly worth while calling attention to them—still we must give you two important numbers.

As something very special we say 20c a yard for 30c and 35c grades of fancy Cheviot, striped and checked Dimities, figured Broche, Piques and Persian Lawns.

Small lot of embroidered Shirtwaist Fronts, best designs, but slightly mussed, $3.50 each for those that sold for $4.50, $5 and $5.50.

In American Cretonnes we have a 16c grade that we are selling for 10c a yard.

A fine grade of Paul Revere Linen Correspondence Paper, square size put up in one-pound packages, about 4 quires to the pound. The envelopes to match have the fashionable square cut flap. Prices just half of regular—Paper, 12c a pound; Envelopes, 6c a pack.

100 boxes Correspondence Paper, new square size, latest tints, such as cream, azure, heliotrope—one quire paper and envelopes to match—12c a box instead of 25c.

The Imported Mousselines.

50c and 65c a yard.

Told you of the arrivals of these mousselines, direct from our Paris office, Friday morning. You accepted the news as something quite special, and came for the mousselines in a hurry.

Good choosing left—pinks, blues, greens, black. The most fashionable of all Summer materials.

The Sale of Women's Garments

which began last Friday has the added attraction of being largely reinforced with new lines for today's selling. Similar garments, as far as grade and character are concerned, have been offered, but at no time has the occasion been presented to buy suits and dresses, separate skirts, jackets and smart waists of such high grade for such small prices.

Suits at Reduced Prices.

For quick choosing we've rearranged the entire stock in groups, and each group has the former price of the garments, as well as present selling price, marked on each tag.

Nothing the matter with styles—a week ago women were eager to buy them at regular prices; but we can't keep one size of this style and two sizes of that on hand. Hence, the leaven to force quick sales are reduced prices like the following:

Lot No. 1—$10 the Suit. All-wool cloth suits in colors and black, reduced from $20.

Lot No. 2—$15 the Suit. Such materials as fine cheviots, broadcloth, mixtures, both dress and walking length, reduced from $25 and $30.

Lot No. 3—$19 the Suit. This is the greatest value-giving ever known. Among the suits are Voiles, Etamines, Summer Closhes, as well as the heavier and more serviceable materials. Special in this group are FINE VOILE BOUTONNE SUITS IN BLACK, CREAM AND BLUE, WITH ALL-SILK TAFFETA DROP SKIRT AND SILK-LINED JACKETS, BANDS ON SKIRT AND JACKET, OF TAFFETA. THESE ARE NEW GOODS JUST IN STOCK TODAY, AND WERE MADE OF OUR OWN CLOTH, BUT THROUGH AN ERROR IN TIME OF DELIVERY THEY GO ON SALE AT ABOUT COST OF THE MATERIAL, WHICH IS $19, INSTEAD OF $35, THEIR REAL WORTH.

Lot No. 4—$23.50 the Suit. Voile Suits and cheviot Suits, suits of Mixtures, suits of Etamine, formerly priced as high as $40.

Lot No. 5—$28.75 the Suit. Almost unrestricted choice of fine Dresses and Suits that sold as high as $50 and $60.

Voile Skirts, $10.

A very special offer made up of those voile boutonnes which we sell over the counter for $1.50 a yard. The skirts were made by one of our best tailors during the dull days of May. Material and labor were figured down to a bargain basis. The result is a skirt that your dressmaker would ask $10 for the making alone. Black, tan, blue—2 styles—trimmed with silk bands and with wide folds.

Shirred Poplin Skirts, $8.

See them in our window—light weight in black, gray, blue. Difficult to give adequate description on paper, but we'll tell you they are a copy of a crepe de chine skirt that sold for $60. All around alternate rows of shirring forming bands, flat yoke, then a row of half-inch shirring followed by a row of 2½ inches, and so on for 20 inches, or about to knees, where the skirt begins to flare out to a very handsome sweep. Only 25 of these skirts—no more after they are gone.

Mohair Walking Skirts, $6.

Not a lot of skirts that have been lying around here for some time, but new skirts made after a pretty new model that has just arrived. Made under advantageous conditions as regards price—hence an $8 value for $6.

Silk Waists Underprice.

Among others is a very fine Summer silk in pretty hairline stripes, black and white, as well as colored stripes, on white grounds, made with black silk turn-back cuffs and turn-over stock. $5 for an $8.50 value.

Silk and Linen Waists, imported and very much underprice, generally speaking one of a kind, in black, white and colors, in silk and pure white linen. The silk waists with a great deal of hand-work and laces; the linens all hand-embroidered by French nuns. Counterparts of the same waists that caused such favorable comment when first shown last month. In most cases PRICES ARE ABOUT HALF.

"Overcuts" in Sheer Lawn Waists.

"Overcuts" is a trade term and signifies that more garments have been cut than orders called for. Sometimes caused by error of the cutter, sometimes a little more material in the piece than is needed, and rather than have remnants the maker has them cut and made up, holding until a lot has accumulated, and selling the lot at half price or thereabouts. By way of illustration:

Sheer Lawn Waists, formerly $12, now $7.75.

Sheer Lawn Waists, formerly $8 and $9, now $5.

These two lots are of the character above described, and among them you will find the same fine, dainty, sheer waists, with exquisite lace inserting and medallions, that were sold all season at about double what you are asked to pay now.

NOTE—None of these waists on approval.

Silk and Cloth Coats.

Not a silk taffeta, pongee, voile, twine or cloth coat, but what has been subject to a strong reduction. All are seasonable weights, adapted for all uses, from the little jacket for parks or trolley, to the handsome smart coat of broadcloth or lace for state occasions.

Prices are $5, $6, $7.50, $10, $15, $20, $25, reduced respectively from $7.50, $12.50, $16.50 and up to $40.

Several fine evening wraps in cream, or oyster white broadcloth, though silk lined, yet very light in weight, trimmed with lace and silk cords, at $45 to $65, reduced from $80 to $85.

Women's Bathing Suits.

The collection is complete as it will be at any time this year, more so than a month hence. We planned for this three months ago, and our stock is not alone large in quality and varied as to materials, but much thought and time in studying new foreign models was given, so as to having ours just right.

The materials used are the always popular mohair, poplins, serges and silks, trimmed with flat serpentine or soutache braid collars of same cloth, or in white and red pique, skirts gored or pleated, plain or stitched in contrasting colors, high or low necks. Prices, $2.50, $3.75, $5, $7 and up to $28 for the best silk suit we have.

Rugs from the Orient.

For $12.75 the Rug Department, fifth floor, will today sell Daghistan Rugs in hearth size, heretofore sold for $18 and $20.

Any housewife desiring to invest in one of those pretty little Anatolian Door Mats, about the smallest rug that comes from the Orient, can do so today by paying $2.75 for a mat that formerly sold for $5.

Moonja Porch Mats, quite a lot of them, 9x9 feet, in red and blue effects, which we will sell for half former prices.

Little Prices for Girls' Dresses.

Wash Dresses—different materials—sizes for 10-year-old girls and down to the girl of 4 years.

Fine Madras Dresses, trimmed with embroidery and velvet ribbon—pink, blue and red—$3 each, were $6. Sizes 8-10-12 years.

Sailor Suits of Madras and Percale, 75c each. Sizes 4 and up to 8 years.

Russian and Sailor Suits, white madras, with pink and blue collars $2 each, were $3.50. Sizes 4 and up to 10 years.

Black Mohairs 25c a Yard.

Mohair is the Summer material par excellence—it is a dust repelling fabric and can be employed in so many different ways that its popularity is not to be gainsaid.

We have a special number of 45-inch black lustrous Mohair—something like 1,500 yards—that we will commence today retailing at 25c a yard.

For the finer grades of Mohair usable for outing dresses and for the natty bathing suit you have recourse to as fine a line and to as broad a price range as was ever brought to this city—from 25c a yard by easy stages up to $2.50.

Among the Silks Today.

When big business creates broken lots then it is that women fairly revel among low prices. This sale of Silks illustrates our methods. During recent months we've sold silks as never before. Great quantities have been distributed daily, and now follows the invariable result—broken lines for little enough. The remainders, the unsold balances of our choicest styles, including many of our own personal importations—all for unparalleled reductions.

Foulard Silks in all this season's newest designs and colorings, including polka dots—$1 and $1.25 grades for 69c and 75c a yard.

Fancy Silks in small neat effects, Check Silks, with embroidered dots, Roman stripe Silks with pointille effects, adapted for shirtwaist suits—85c and $1 grades for 65c and 75c a yard.

Very high grade Black Grenadines of French creation, double width—stripes and broche effects—$3.50, $4 and $4.50 grades all at $2.50 a yard.

Full yard-wide black Peau de Soie, an exceedingly good black—$1.25 grade for $1.10 a yard.

Black Crepe de Chine, double width, rich in lustre and finish, a $2.50 grade for $2 a yard.

Wash Goods Basement.

Piles and piles of American weaves down there, and the prices much less than many people are accustomed to paying—even much less than we are in the habit of charging.

5,000 yards of Silk Organdies, a soft filmy silk warp material with dainty new printings—goods usually retailing at 35c here at 18c a yard.

2,500 yards of fine sheer Batiste and Lawn—new printings—well worth 25c a yard, special at 15c a yard.

2,500 yards of fast black Satin Striped Lawn at the small price of 10c a yard.

2,000 yards of fast black Lace Striped Lawn, 15c, 18c, 25c a yard.

1,000 yards fast black dotted Swiss, 25c a yard.

Monday, June 8, 1903.

Another chapter is added to the story of disasters of 1903 by the collision at sea out from Marseilles. More than 100 lives are reported lost in this accident, without details as to the identity of the unfortunate victims or the causes of the catastrophe. The record for the year, not half spent, is a gruesome one. Floods, tornadoes, fires, wrecks, collisions, massacres and earthquakes have been unusually frequent. The total loss of life was made greater last year by the one calamity at St. Pierre, but few years have distributed their horrors of sudden death more widely or plentifully than this.

It is predicted by Citizens party leaders that they will have complete control of select council at the meeting today and that a joint meeting will be ordered for the election of city clerks. Possibly. If so, it will be a misfortune to have the clerks of experience replaced by new men who are strangers to the method of procedure. It is further averred there will be an immediate reorganization of the select branch and the abolition of the special committees. This event cannot be regarded as an unmixed evil. The special committees of select council have never served any purpose except to obstruct public business. Their abolition will go toward compensating for less welcome changes.

First aid to the injured is being taught to the railroad men on several great systems. It is a good idea as far as it goes. First aid ought to be understood by everybody. But it must not be supposed that prompt and effective assistance in cases of accident are a mere matter of knowledge. There is something else. Many persons become helpless in the presence of danger, while others are spurred by an emergency to quickest thought and action. Railroad employes are not exempt from this law of nature. The instruction will be good for some; for others it will be useless. As has been said, however, it is a good thing to have everybody informed on the first principles of saving life when such saving is possible.

There is little room for doubt that the condition of Pope Leo XIII. is serious. Accounts agree that his physical powers are failing and an irritation of the digestive tract prevents such nutrition as might again build up his splendid constitution. Pope Leo is a very old man, measured by the years he has seen come and go. He is an older man in the works he has performed, for his life has been an active one. It is not to be wondered at that his vitality is ebbing. More wonder that he has lived so long and retained to such old age the powers and faculties that have made his greatness. He is a remarkable man and his intellect will leave its impress upon the church of which he is the head long after his mortal life has passed.

Engineering Record calls attention to Pittsburgh's fatal inactivity in the matter of filtration in a manner not flattering to our civic pride. Naturally it takes the economic view, noting the loss of interest on funds voted for the filtration plant and the increasing death rate. Considered as a matter of profit and loss, the situation is discreditable enough, but that is not the worst side of the account. The value of human life may not be expressed in dollars and cents. It is written in tears of anguish, in heart-breaking regrets, in the loss of moral or intellectual influences in the molding of character. The account is, indeed, a fearful one, but it is allowed to run on while the filtration committee of councils dodges its duty and avoids a business meeting.

News from France indicates the existence in that country of a private asylum abuse worse than that in England years ago, which provoked the onslaught by Charles Reade in his "Very Hard Cash." Mr. Reade's novel and his numerous letters to the press upon the subject awakened a public opinion that put a speedy end to the system of privacy and assumed sanctity that sheltered so many outrages. No doubt the disclosures now being made about French private asylums will bring about a system of inspection and an end to the incarceration of sane persons. Evils of that sort cannot live in the light of publicity. The press may be at times overzealous in exposing alleged wrongs upon insufficient evidence, but it is the bulwark of protection to the public against the real wrongs that thrive in darkness and secrecy.

Russia's Appeal.

It is of more than passing interest that the Russian government has considered it of sufficient importance to give a somewhat detailed statement through its minister of police in answer to an inquiry addressed to the czar by an American journal asking for information concerning the massacre of Jews at Kishineff. It is apparent that the men who rule Russia appreciate that the ruling power in America is the concentrated force of public opinion, and in answering the inquiry of the Christian Herald of New York, as they do, they have in effect appealed to it against the accusations that have sought to convict the Russian government of complicity in or sympathy with the atrocities. Doubtless the fact that a periodical devoted to the promotion of Christian thought and feeling and of Christian morals sought the information added weight to the request and made it seem all the more worthy of being answered as it was. It was probably also remembered in Russia that this same Christian Herald had been active during periods of famine in Russia in supplying money and food to the distressed people. These previous works of mercy and the religious character of the journal would be impressive of the absolute sincerity of its request and would naturally dispose the czar and his advisers in its favor. But even after all this is taken into consideration, the fact that the information is given is evidence that even the rulers of an autocracy are amenable to the enlightened and intelligently guided public opinion of another land, if not yet to the public opinion of their own. It is reasonable to suppose that the czar and his advisers, while they considered well the medium through which they were invited to address the American people, gave greater thought to the fact that through this respectable and unprejudiced medium it was the American people that they would address.

While Russian journals are at the moment, under official inspiration, undoubtedly, saying things that we cannot indorse with regard to the traditional friendship of Russia for the United States and the manner in which it is repaid, it is made apparent thereby and by the communication of Police Director Lopukhine to the Christian Herald that Russia sets a real value on the good opinion and good will of the people of the United States. It is evidence, as has been said, that the men who rule Russia recognize that the ruling power in America is public opinion, but the apparent desire to stand well with that American public opinion is much more important than the mere recognition of its directing force in government matters and affairs of state. If the enlightened public sentiment of the United States is beginning to have influence in the affairs of a nation like Russia it cannot be other than a good thing for the people of that country and for the subject populations, like the Jews, who are in, but not of the nation. This is the first well advertised beginning of it, advertised by the rulers of Russia themselves. The end of it no man can see. But once the influence of our progressive democracy is admitted, is it unreasonable to suppose that its power will grow? It has been growing, unknown and unsuspected by the people of this country, and the stream will not turn back upon its source. We have no doubt (in fact we now have the evidence) that Russia attaches much more importance to the criticisms of the United States than to those of any other country because of knowledge of their absolute disinterestedness, and as we come more in touch with Russia and Russians this quality of disinterestedness becomes more and more appreciated. It really looks as though the example and influence of the great republic of the west is having a powerful modifying influence on the great despotic state that stretches across the north of Europe and Asia. Lopukhine's letter indicates that the leaven of our enlightened democracy is working.

Humping the River.

A valuable contribution to the literature of the subject of Allegheny river navigation and the bridge question was made by a well-known business man of Pittsburgh in a communication printed in yesterday's Gazette. It recalls the time when there was a traffic on the Allegheny river; when millions of feet of logs and lumber and thousands of barrels of oil found their way from upper waters to market in Pittsburgh and points below; when thousands of tons of machinery and merchandise were transported up stream to the lumber and oil regions. That traffic passed under lower bridges than any now spanning the picturesque stream. There was then no demand for the destruction of other property, or the disturbance of other interests, but the steamboatmen adapted their craft to the conditions they found and drove a profitable business.

There is not now as much reason for elevation of the bridges as in the days our correspondent remembers. The oil and lumber of the northern counties has been exhausted or is being transported by other and more satisfactory means. Machinery has been improved and stronger boats can be built that require less clearance. A half dozen boat builders of experience and character stand ready to construct vessels that will pass under the bridges at any stage of water that is safe for open navigation; boats of from 130 to 150 feet in length, 20 to 26 feet beam, wheels 17 to 19 feet diameter, engines with 15 or 16-inch cylinders and 6 or 7-foot stroke; boats that will stand from 18 to 22 feet above the water line all told. Those who understand steamboating know that such boats are ample in power and dimensions for any traffic likely to develop on the Allegheny river during this century. Every steamboatman that ever navigated the Allegheny knows it develops an impossible current at about a 17-foot stage when there is no debris running, though usually that stage is accompanied by ice or heavy drift, or both. Every riverman knows, too, that no Allegheny river boat has ever suffered damage from failure to clear the bridges, though they have come to grief through the combination of strong current and irregularly aligned piers.

These are the facts as to navigation. They do not argue for raising the bridges out of the way of a purely imaginary traffic. On the other side, there is ample argument against disturbance of the traffic over the bridges. Millions of dollars are invested in the structures; millions more in property has been adjusted to present levels; millions more must be spent in years to come, if the bridges are raised, to overcome additional grades with the enormous traffic that passes from shore to shore. Director Bigelow proposes to spend a million or more to cut down the Grant street "hump," and there is every reason to believe it will be a good investment. Yet the bridge raisers propose to erect such a "hump" on every thoroughfare between Pittsburgh and Allegheny at an expense of many millions to somebody, but the bridge raisers do not talk of paying even a part of the cost.

Peculiar Conditions.

It is not probable the order for the Mormon missionaries to leave Prussia within three weeks will lead to any serious diplomatic complications between the United States and German governments. True, the Mormons appear to expect some sort of protest to be entered in their behalf as American citizens, but they have not made any formal request for intervention. The state department has given no intimation of its attitude or policy in the premises. It has the right to demand privileges for the Mormons as American citizens, under treaty stipulations, just as it would have for other missionaries in Turkey, but it is not certain it will, because there are peculiarities in the case.

Public opinion is the governing power in the United States and public opinion, outside of Utah, is not favorable to Mormonism. There have been many instances of Mormon missionaries being notified to leave the field of their labors in various states of the union under penalty of dire consequences. Such notices have not been official, but they have been none the less forcible. Just at the moment there is a vigorous protest being made against permitting Senator Reed Smoot to remain in the senate because he is a Mormon, and because it is held that his allegiance to the Mormon church is paramount to his loyalty to the United States. In fact the anti-Mormon sentiment inclines to the view that the Mormons are not really American citizens, but some sort of aliens, hostile to American institutions, who have taken up their abode in this country in spite of its legal authority.

Suppose the state department shall make demands of the Prussian authorities in behalf of the Mormons, will not those authorities inquire why the government of the United States insists upon those people being better treated in Prussia than at home? Such a reply would be embarrassing to say the least. Then, if it came to the application of extreme measures to compel compliance with such a demand, it would be a serious question whether the congress and the people of the United States would be able to summon any enthusiasm in support of the department of state.

Taking all of the circumstances into account the easiest way out will be for the Mormon missionaries in Prussia to betake themselves to more hospitable fields without further ado. They could probably do nothing more likely to earn the good opinion of other Americans than that. And they can probably do nothing wiser.

Responsibility Fixed.

When City Controller John B. Larkin on Saturday countersigned the warrants for payment of the claim of the Mercantile Trust Company for the construction of Highland reservoir No. 2 there was an end to the contention that the city controller is anything more than an auditing and accounting officer. The courts have defined the limits of his authority with so much exactness that hereafter there will be no mistaking them. The controller delayed compliance with the mandate of the supreme tribunal of the commonwealth in the hope that his attorneys would be able to find some new ground on which to again carry the matter up, but apparently after careful study in the light of the judicial decision they have concluded that there is no loophole and that there is nothing to do but to obey orders. The Gazette has been of the opinion that the powers of the controller are what the court has defined them to be. If it is desirable that he have other and greater powers they will have to be obtained for him by legislation.

Aside from this it is of great importance that in defining the powers of the controller the courts have emphasized the responsibilities of the administrative officers of the city government. It is to them that the taxpayers must look instead of to the controller for an honest return to the city for its money. In the matter of the Highland reservoir the decision of the director of public works accepting the basin was the law of the case for the controller and there was no going behind the award made by him. It did not matter whether the work was well done or badly done, if he accepted it as a proper fulfillment under the terms of the contract. That settled the matter and established the right of the contractor or his bondsmen to the contract sum of money. The people now know exactly where they stand in these matters and will appreciate the need of having good men and honest men in the executive offices and of watching them well for results after they are in.

While the declaration of Gov. Bailey of Kansas that he will appoint no man to office who has not laid by something for a rainy day is not intended as a joke, it affords a rich opportunity for the humorists recently in session at Baltimore to make the usual umbrella parade. But why should a man who has something laid by for a rainy day when an office is the question that will naturally occur to those who know the ways of the world with umbrellas.

When the veracious chronicler who reports Terry McGovern's breakdown tells it that "one noor notices the gentleness of a dry-goods clerk in Terry's demeanor," a doubt naturally arises as to the intimacy of the chronicler's relationship with presiding geniuses of dress goods counters.

Of course there is no real connection between the two events, but it is a somewhat remarkable coincidence that disastrous floods should be in progress in the Missouri and Mississippi valley just when all the water is being squeezed out in Wall street.

Willingness of Russian officials to talk things over with the United States is evidence that the arc light of modern thought is beginning to penetrate the gloom of even darkest Russia at a rate that ought to soon make a market for breakfast food.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

Dr. Charles A. Eastman, the author of "Indian Boyhood," has been appointed a special agent to revise the allotment rolls of the Sioux and see that they are given permanent family names. This is in pursuance of the general plan of merging the Indians into American citizenship.

Prof. Stephen Sinding, the well-known Scandinavian sculptor, who completed the elaborate groups "Peace and War," which have a place at the foot of Smith's monument in memory of Gen. Sherman, has obtained the coveted gold medal for a masterpiece at the Vienna exhibition, "Man and Woman," two beautifully carved figures, embracing.

Dr. Charles W. Nedham, the new president of Columbian university, Washington, D. C., was born in Castile, N. Y., in 1848. He is not a college graduate, but was educated in the law at the Albany Law school and practiced in Chicago and Washington, having lived in the latter city since 1890. He was one of the men engaged in organizing the present University of Chicago.

Congressman Francis W. Cushman, whose senatorial boom has been started in the state of Washington, is a picturesque figure, known in his country as "the Abe Lincoln of the far west." It was Congressman Cushman who once promised "to make a speech in the house that would have to be printed on asbestos paper with hand grenades for general distribution."

A Plain President.

Of course, the head of no other important country would have mingled with the people to anything like the extent which President Roosevelt has done. No sort of discrimination was made by him for or against any element of his countrymen. Every community which he entered, wherever the railroad schedule permitted, had a chance to see and greet the president. No caste distinctions of any kind were thought of on the tour. All elements, employments and races were on a precise equality in their intercourse with him. Necessarily this trip must benefit both people and president, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The people have had a chance to greet the chief magistrate. They have seen that he is a plain, earnest, industrious man like themselves, who puts in his regular stint of work every 24 hours. They have seen, in fact, that he is a harder worker than most of his countrymen, and that he puts on no airs of superiority over any of them. To the president himself the tour has been of vast advantage. He has seen more of the country than any other president or than almost any other American has on a single trip, and he has seen it under conditions which have enabled him to learn much about the people, their ideas and their requirements. No man in the United States has been better acquainted with the country as a whole, its history, resources and capacities, than was President Roosevelt before he started on his present tour, but he has gained on the trip now knowledge which will be of immeasurable benefit to him and to his countrymen throughout the whole of the remaining years of his service.

Duty of Patriots.

The duty of keeping the country clean, safe within and without, the abode of well-ordered peace, a light to the nations, is laid upon the Americans of these times, says the Hartford Courant. The call to the young men especially—not so thrilling and blood-stirring as the summons to the battlefield—is no whit less imperative. The present dangers are capable of becoming as deadly as disruption itself if they are not averted betimes, and the averting of them will need diligent and vigilant devotion. "The union has been saved," yes; but—what is the union for? To establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and to our posterity. Justice—not the rule among us of the lawless mob. Domestic tranquility—not industrial war, flaming up every now and then into riot. The general welfare—not the inordinate enrichment of a few by means of a legalized exploitation of the many. The blessings of liberty—only those who keep themselves worthy of them may hope long to enjoy them. The enemies we have to dread now, and to overcome if we may, are busy in our stock exchanges, board rooms, counting rooms, labor halls, at our hearth stones, in our own bosoms. It will be no easy war; we have our work cut out for us.

Tarred With the Same Stick.

Democrats who are jumping all over Penny-packer, Quay, Penrose and the machine for the press muzzling law should be honest, says the Centre (Pa.) Democrat. They certainly know that our present Democratic state chairman, James K. Polk Hall, when this measure was up in the senate for final passage, sat in his chair as dumb as a clam, never spoke when the roll was called, would not oppose the measure, practically assented in silence. It has been hinted that he was too frequently seen in company with Penrose at that time to act otherwise. These are facts that are not palatable to honest Democrats. Such leadership does not inspire confidence.

Hitch up the ox team, Johnny—the prize he's goin' to win.

An' grease yer hair, an' grease yer boots—it's graduatin' week.
An' you'll see 'em laugh in Latin, an' throw somersets in Greek!

The Quiet Observer.

ERASMUS WILSON.

Man born in the wilds of Kentucky is of few days and easy virtue. He fisheth, fiddleth and fighteth all the days of his life. He shunneth water as a mad dog and drinketh much whisky.

He riseth even from his cradle to seek the scalp of his grandsire's enemy, and bringeth home in his carcase the ammunitions of his neighbor's wife's uncle's father-in-law who avengeth the dead.

Yea, verily his life is uncertain and he knoweth not the hour when he may be fired hence.

He goeth on a journey "half shot," and cometh back on a shutter, shot.

He riseth in the night to let the cat out, and it taketh nine doctors three days to mix the buckshot from his person.

He goeth forth in joy and gladness, and cometh back in scraps and fragments.

He calleth his fellow man a liar and getteth himself filled with scrap iron, even to the fourth generation.

He emptieth a demijohn into himself and a shotgun into his enemy and his enemy's son Beth in wait on election day, and, lo, the coroner ploweth up a forty-acre field to bury the remains of that man.—Anon.

The probable reason the above preachment is signed "Anon" is that the author is a Kentuckian and cannot afford to die right off.

That he would be found guilty of heresy, treason, poltroonery and a lot of other things too mean to mention if caught, goes without saying, and the shootings and doings in his native state would interest him no more.

Kentucky is not only a good state to live in, but to die in. It isn't really necessary to be sick, or to bother with either a doctor of medicine or of divinity in order to die good and proper down there.

* * * * *

There are good things and bad things down in Kentucky—good whisky and bad, good and bad land, good men and some not so good. However, it depends a good deal on how you take a Kentuckian, or how he takes you, whether you accept him as a good fellow or not.

Even in Breathitt county, the present storm center, you will find the people hospitable and kind, good hearted and generous, and willing to knock off work any day to go along and show you the way to wherever you want to go.

Of course you must first satisfy some of the prominent citizens and beat shots, that you are not a "rev'nooer," nor a "dep'ty" of any kind. Then if you can knock off the pedigrees of a few famous horses right glibly, tell a good story or two in which the chief character is a Kentucky mountaineer who killed his man, got the girl and saved the horse, you will be right in it, so to speak. In your stories always try and save the horse, even if you lose the girl, if you can sing a plantation "heart-rending ballet" you will be certain to be invited to all the social functions, or "doin's," as they are called, but you don't have to be literary, which is something to be thankful for.

* * * * *

What shall be done with the Kentucky shootist?

Shoot him?

That might be good Breathitt county law, but it could hardly bring the desired end without making an end of the people.

There used to be a similar reign of terror in Texas, and later throughout the western borders, particularly in cowtowndom and mining districts. But that reign is over.

It seems that the quieter, non-shooting element got tired of the notoriety given to the country by a few wreckless, irresponsible men who thought it a great boast to have killed a man. Civil, enterprising men refused to take up their residence where they were in danger of being taken off with their boots on, and capital refrained from settling where human life was held so cheaply.

The cool heads, which had grown to outnumber the hot heads, got their heads together and devised a sweeping law which made using, carrying or possessing firearms a serious offense. The least fine was $50 or 50 days in jail. For flourishing a gun this fine was doubled.

In order that the law might not miscarry through clumsy making exceptions for strangers, travelers or cowboys, a few officers of the law, mounted and special police, were allowed to carry guns in full view, to be used in their business only. All others must give up or get out.

And the law was enforced to the letter and in the proper spirit, and with most gratifying results, for in a comparatively short time scarcely an armed man could be found anywhere. As a matter of course shooting fell off rapidly, so that now one is rarely heard of in the territories, among the cowboys, or in the mining camps.

Howard Eaton, on a recent visit to this, his native city, said the gun is a thing of the past away out west, and its passing was the making of the country. The law is rigidly enforced, regardless of name, rank, wealth or political influence.

Any officer of the law, mounted or special police, can arrest and search anyone suspected of carrying a gun. If one is found on him he is summarily tried, convicted and sentenced without delay, and if he hasn't the money handy he goes to jail, sure.

Were they to pass a similar law down in Kentucky, and send the militia out with instructions to search every house, man, woman and child in the state, confiscate every "shootin iron" found, and give the people notice that the penalty of the law would be visited upon any one that violated it, "sure and sartin," the shooting era would be at an end.

This is not only the shortest way in which to end such nonsense, but it is the cheapest and most effective.

Missouri is just now getting into the middle of the stage, and beginning to shine out big under the bright light that is being manipulated by the promoters of the big fair booked for next year. This state used to be regarded as being composed of a lot of bad land and equally bad people.

Truth will out, however, and Mark Twain, Eugene Field and a few other wholesome, neighborly sort of fellows helped it out with song and story and generous deed. And when it got fairly out it was not long being recognized, and is now marching on with stately step, proud mein and dignified bearing.

Naturally enough some of the old-time swipes are occasionally flashed up, but only as reminders of the days "befo' the war," or of the state of affairs in way-back sections where the unprogressive, uneducated and unregenerate persist in existing. Following is a characteristic swipe found in a Missouri paper:

There is good land and poor land in Missouri. In the southeastern section, where I visited, it is mostly of the latter variety. A farmer who was just moving out told me no one believes in hell down there, because they think it would be foolish to have two places so much alike. Some time ago I read of a farmer near Joplin who deeded his farm to the Lord in regular legal form. At first I thought he was a religious crank, but since seeing the country I have concluded he was a practical joker. Some of the farmers down there put in their crops with a ladder and a pot of glue. They climb up both sides of their farm and paste their crops to it with the glue. Sometimes a man's farm blows over like a billboard, and then he farms it with a mule and double shovel plow. They don't wash clothes in the crop season, as the clothesline is in use as harness. Other farmers plant their crops with hipboots and harvest them with a dredge. I really do not blame the James boys for turning desperadoes after northern raiders dragged their father behind a plow. It's enough to harrow up any one's feelings to have one's respected father dragged over such beastly land.—Alton (Mo.) Democrat.

The present outbreak is, in all probability, the beginning of the end of the feudal age in Kentucky. It has challenged the attention not only of the people throughout this country, but is being noted in foreign countries. And what must foreigners think of us, after the fuss we have made over the existence of similar conditions in the Turkish belt, in China, and elsewhere? A competent European press agent could get columns of good stuff for an up-to-date yellow journal, or even for one that publishes all the news.

Fortunately for this country, the cool heads outnumber the hot heads, and when they get their heads together something is bound to happen, and it invariably proves to be the right thing.

Therefore, we may confidently expect the cool heads in Kentucky to get together and make arrangements to have something doing before long. That state, one of the richest and best in the union, should not be kept out of the grand procession by a handful of feudal fools who are of no use to the state nor credit to this country.

Keep cool, and wait awhile, and you will see the redemption of the dark and bloody ground.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 7.—Times are not the dog days, according to the heather calendar, but they are actively dog catching days in New York. So many stories of mad dogs biting at passers-by were circulated a week or two ago that it was considered important that the city dog catchers should work diligently and long hours. Broadway has been cleaned up of more stray dogs in the past week than in any six days for a year. Keeping up with the progress of the age, the S. P. C. A., under whose supervision the official dog catchers operate, has been provided with a large automobile, built expressly for the conveying of dogs, and the machine gets over a great deal of ground in the course of a day. It is fitted up with separate cages, so that any very savage dog can be placed in solitary confinement, and is made as comfortable as any reasonable dog could desire. There is a water tank, and provisions for starving cuss are also kept ready to be used when it is considered necessary. Many a dog gets his first square meal for days when he has been scooped in by the net and dropped into the auto. That he is to be hydrocuted soon after he arrives at the headquarters in One Hundred and Tenth street on the bank of the East river does not trouble him. Some hundreds of dogs have been destroyed already this month, and the hydrophobia scare is over.

A Successful Appeal.

A venerable chap, with white hair and beard, is selling soap, shoe laces and other notions on the sidewalk at the corner of Thirty-fourth street and Sixth avenue, who understands the value of striking advertising. He exhibits one card on which is written the information that he is 76 years old; that he has kidney disease and that he is "going into consumption," while on the other there is this: "Ladies, Gents—The Lord knows I wrote the truth. The money on the board is all the money I have in the world." The total sum, in nickels and pennies, generally is about 22 cents. The old man has a good position and as a great many nickels fall into his hands in the course of a day either his announcement must be elastic or he gives away his money as fast as it comes in.

Dust "Venice" Is Very Enjoyable.

John S. Duss entertained a very large audience in Madison Square garden tonight. His "Venice" was brilliantly lighted and the waters of the Grand canal flowed as sluggishly as those of the original. There is one respect in which Mr. Duss' Grand canal is more agreeable than its prototype. If what Mark Twain has said about the odor of Venice is really true, the Madison Square garden canal is clear and sweet, although a story was afloat the other day that its blue tint is due to the judicious use of a quart of aniline dye. At all events, the concert tonight was excellent and there were so many people present that they had to watch themselves carefully to prevent a few hundred of them tumbling into the water.

Churches Were All Crowded.

Although many of the smart set and a large handful of fashionable ministers have deserted New York for the summer, the churches along Fifth avenue were all crowded this morning. When one sees such large congregations on a Sunday it is considered the off-season he cannot help speculating on the insecurity of the sexton and ushers in finding room for the multitudes that must attend when everybody is in town. It may be that outsiders do not go to these churches except when society is away, on the principle that servants usually entertain their friends when the absence of their employers gives them the unrestrained use of the drawing room and grand piano.

To Meet Mrs. Carter.

Invitations have been sent out to a few hundred people to meet Mrs. Leslie Carter at the Belasco theater on Wednesday evening. It is understood there will be an entertainment participated in by well-known professionals after everyone has been introduced to Mrs. Carter. Pink teas on the stage have been a regular matinee feature at some of the stock company theaters in Brooklyn, but this idea of holding an evening reception in a Manhattan theater is something new.

Great Day for Excursionists.

Every excursion boat in New York harbor was in commission today. It is an axiom that New York is the best summer city for persons in moderate circumstances in the whole country. Nobody with a dime to his name was obliged, for pecuniary reasons at least, to remain in town today. There is a 5-cent fare to Coney Island and a dozen car lines by which, with a judicious use of transfers, one could go far into the country, spend the day amid green fields and forests, and come home in the evening with a seat or a strap all the way. Weather has little to do with a Sunday outing in this city. There are so many places to which the holidaymaker can go and be under cover that the seasoned New Yorker hardly takes the trouble to look out of windows to see whether it is raining or not when preparing for an outing.

Awed by the Police.

Policemen were all along the subway today. No work was in progress, but it was feared that some of the disgruntled laborers who have been on strike and now find themselves shut out might attempt mischief. The sight of the gigantic officers in blue who are chosen for this kind of duty puts a damper on people who meditate evil, and no harm was done. A great many groups of frowning Italians [illegible] about the work at different points, but hovering was all they did.

Francis Wilson Going to Sleep.

Francis Wilson, the comedian with the comical legs, has gone to England. He says he will sleep for three months.

Characteristic of Greene.

Although Commissioner Greene may not persuade Comptroller Grout to cut the Tenderloin police precinct in two, he is bound to have a new police station in West Thirtieth street. This station, colloquially known as the Tenderloin station, is a filthy hole. Even in the policemen's quarters the cells are unspeakable. Commissioner Greene has had his nose turned up whenever he has mentioned this place ever since he has been at the head of the department. A new building will cost a lot of money but the commissioner cares nothing for money as against hygiene. Besides it is the city's money that will be spent.

Political Drift.

The Washington Post (Dem. local) professes to see in the tariff plank adopted by the Ohio Republican convention a gratifying victory for the tariff reformists. Continuing, the paper says: "The Post, at the beginning of its demand for tariff revision, and at every subsequent stage of the long agitation, has said in substance what the Ohio Republicans declare: 'The protective tariff policy of the Republican party has made the United States the greatest industrial nation, outstripping the world with the tremendous development of our boundless resources; has added vastly to our foreign commerce; has greatly increased the prosperity of the farmer, and has advanced American labor to the best scale of living ever attained. We oppose all attacks upon this policy.' And many times before the Dem. Republicans echoed the sentiment, the Post insisted on what the Ohio platform concedes in the declaration that 'changing conditions and the possible benefits of reciprocity may call for timely readjustment of schedules, but protection as a principle and as a policy must be administered by the friends of American prosperity, and must not be sacrificed.'

"The difference between that and the Post's position is not a matter of principle. Instead of saying that 'changing conditions, etc., may call for timely readjustment,' the Post asserted and proved—proved by the highest Republican authorities—that the time had come and the 'call' was urgent. But the Ohio convention, when all the circumstances are considered, is a tremendous letting down. It is identical in principle with the object for which the Post has been contending for years. It is the Iowa idea, and it is in support with Chairman Babcock."

The harmony at the Columbus convention is regarded by the Indianapolis News (Ind.) as a lesson in practical politics. It says: "The Democrats, local and national, could pattern after the Republicans of Ohio in one thing to their own great advantage and the benefit of the country, and that is the settlement of their differences within the household and a presentation to the public of a united, harmonious and enthusiastic organization. Surely, the spectacle is instructive in party discipline and public welfare. While slavish subordination is as bad a sign in a party as continued lack of union, it must be conceded that if a party is to be of use it must be able to subordinate factional differences at the critical time to the general party good. No one that has observed Ohio politics, even superficially, will accuse the Republicans of that state of slavish submission or party apathy; they are wrangling almost continually. And no one for a moment supposes in spite of what took place at Columbus that there are no heart-burnings and differences. These exist in all their wonted fierceness and up to the crucial moment they were manifest. But when that moment came they were laid aside."

"It is evident that both Democrats and Republicans are looking for a big Republican victory in 1904," says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat (Rep.). "This is shown, so far as regards the Democrats, by the way they put forward aspirants for their nomination. Not one of the half-dozen or dozen Cleveland newspaper boomers has said or intimated that he would have any chance of election. What they did say was that he would keep down the Republican majority in the electoral college to a smaller figure than would any other Democrat who could be named. This is the way also that the boomers for Parker, for Gorman, for Bryan and for all the rest of the Democratic nomination possibilities talk. No Democrat expects to see a Democratic victory in 1904. North, south, east and west the Democratic journals talk in the same strain. Each says his especial favorite would come as near election as any other Democrat could, or nearer. Nobody ever before saw candidates in this country in such a humor posed."

Although months are to elapse before congress meets again, the Springfield Republican (Ind.) is already discussing whether the house of representatives, with Cannon as speaker, will assert itself against senatorial prerogative. "There is no doubt about the resentment felt by representatives against the senate's encroachments upon the influence and power of the co-ordinate body," says the paper. "Whether a real stand can be made, is another question. There has come to be something like arrogance in the senate's assumption of absolute leadership, leaving the house to trail after as an unrecognized and subservient and obedient factor. This has been strikingly shown in the conference of senators at Hot Springs, Va., which assumed to forecast the financial legislation of the winter's session of congress. Boiled down to its final element of power, Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island comes very near posing as 'the whole thing,' for in crises he is the senator who nominates and leads his associates."

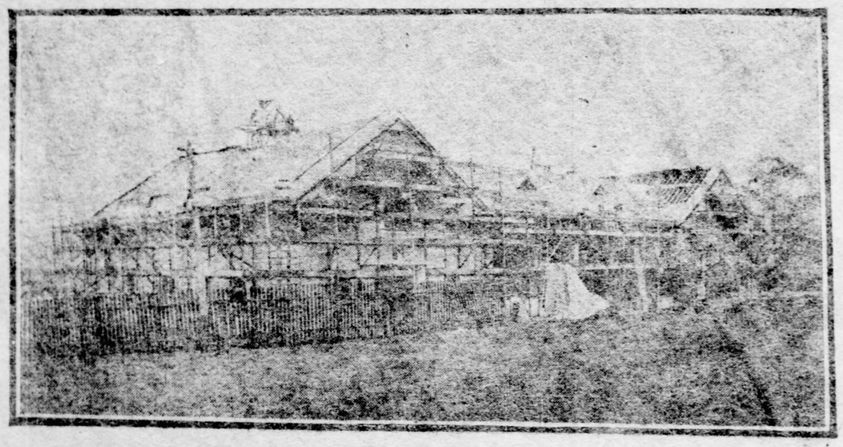
"The Republican Way of Carrying States" is the title of an editorial in which the Memphis Commercial-Appeal (Dem.) discusses the announcement that Roosevelt has already carried enough states to secure his nomination. "How has he carried them? Why, conventions have been held for entirely different purposes, such as nominating candidates for governor, or secretary of state, or judge of the supreme court; and these conventions have been induced to depart from their proper function and indorse Roosevelt's administration and his candidacy; and there are some people who imagine that such indorsements are binding on the states in which they have been made."

Costly Inactivity

REMARKABLE ADJUNCT TO PRIVATE RESIDENCE.



Handsome and Enormous Stable Being Erected by F. T. F. Lovejoy.

Handsomest and most convenient stable in Pittsburgh will be a good description of the new structure which is now being erected by F. T. F. Lovejoy near his residence in Braddock avenue. This stable possesses, however, more functions than merely that of housing horses and carriages. It will contain the owner's automobiles, the power house for the heating and lighting of the Lovejoy residence, apartments for the employes about the place and various other features, which are not often gathered in one large building like this.

The building is 172 feet long with a width of 88 feet at each end, where two wings extend. It will be of brick and terra cotta with steel beams and a steel frame roof. The aim has been to render the whole structure as nearly fire proof as the best of modern ideas can make any building.

Mr. Lovejoy's collection of automobiles, including five or six machines, each designed for its own particular use. In addition there are upwards of half a dozen carriages to be housed and a corresponding number of fine horses.

It is designed in the building that one of the ends shall be used for the horses and carriages, while the other end will be devoted to the storage of the automobiles.

MAYOR SAVED BUTCHER BY EXPERT TESTIMONY

Police Thought Loretta Had a Stilleto, but Executive Said It Was Only a Meat Tester. Eccentricities of Justice.

Mayor Hays was once in the meat packing business, and this fact probably saved a butcher from a much heavier sentence than he secured. The mayor attended the Central station hearing yesterday morning.

Nicholas Loretta had in his possession what the police decided was a stiletto, which he had threatened to use upon some one at Fifth and Liberty avenues. The mayor identified the weapon as a "meat tester," used by butchers to test hams. As Loretta was not using the instrument for its legitimate purpose, he was fined $50 and costs, with the alternative of 60 days to the workhouse.

There were 101 prisoners at the hearing, and 44 were discharged. Among these latter were 11 men arrested at an alleged "Citizens' club," at Flora and Shafer streets. Lieut. Kennelly raided the place at 2 o'clock yesterday morning and told Magistrate Stewart that it was a fake club and that liquor was sold to all comers. Lewis Johnston, alleged to be the proprietor, was fined $5 and costs and the 11 visitors $1 and costs, but Johnston's fine was later reduced to $1 and costs, and that of the visitors was remitted altogether.

On the other hand Emma Hathaway of No. 38 Poplar alley, was fined $100 and costs or 60 days to the workhouse, and four visitors found in her house were fined $5 and costs. She was alleged to keep a disorderly house. Maggie Cook of 118 Shore alley, was another fined $100 and costs. She, too, was said to keep a disorderly house. Three white women found in her house were fined $50 and costs, and four colored men were assessed $10 and costs each.

Mrs. Scanlon of No. 249 Second avenue, was only required to pay $5 and costs, while nine visitors caught in her house paid $1 and costs. She was alleged to keep a disorderly house. Mabel Stone, who lives at No. 657 on the same street, paid $25 and costs. There were no visitors arrested there. Hattie Clark of No. 427 Fourth avenue, third floor, was fined $50 and costs, and four visitors found in her rooms were fined $5 and costs. Agnes Kelly of Fifth and Old avenues, was fined $25 and costs, as was a man named Patterson, whom Inspector McStay said was the woman's friend. Four visitors found there paid $5 and costs each.

William Robinson, said to be a confirmed rag, got a 60-day sentence in default of a $50 fine.

D. J. O'Neil, for throwing his wife on a stove and burning her arm, was fined $25 and costs.

Harry Lamont, arrested by Detectives Cole and Leff as a professional thief, was fined $25 and costs or 90 days to the workhouse.

PENSION PERIOD TO BE REDUCED

Proposed Change to Retire Police Employes After a Service of Twenty Years.

MANY MEN ARE NOW ELIGIBLE

Present Pensioners, However, Will Oppose Making Limit Less Than Twenty-Five Years—Fear Fund Would Be Speedily Exhausted Under New Rule.

Several detectives and a host of employes of the police bureau will benefit by a change in the laws of the Police Pension Fund association, which is to be made soon. It is proposed to reduce the length of service, required to get on the pension list, from 25 to 20 years, and when this change is made, every employe of the police department who has been in the service for 20 years or more can retire on half pay.

Detectives William Shore and Philip Demmel will be eligible to a pension under the 20-year rule, as both have been in the service for more than this number of years, while Detective Richard Kelly will have only a few more years to serve to become eligible.

Among the men in the police bureau who will be able to retire on half pay will be Lieutenant Charles Grimes, John McRoberts and Frank Mitholland, well-known in the downtown district. In addition to these men there a couple of dozen more throughout the city who will be able to get a pension.

It is stated that the change will be opposed by the men now drawing pensions, who were forced to serve 25 years before they got on the pension list. Among these are Roger O'Mara, Sol Coulson and half a dozen more. It is claimed that the constitution of the association forbids the reduction of the period of service without the consent of all the members of the association, but it is asserted by those proposing the change that this part of the constitution would not be upheld in a test case before the courts, as it is clearly manifest that it would be impossible to get the consent of all members to a reduction of the service period under any circumstances, because the present pensioners fear if the time is reduced the pension fund might be exhausted before their death and that the reduction of five years might be followed later by another reduction in the length of service.

SENOR PEZET ON PERU.

Legation Member Will Give a Talk on South America Tonight.

Invitations have been sent out for an informal talk by Senor Pezet, secretary of the Peruvian legation, on the romantic story of Peru and present social conditions. On account of inability to secure Carnegie institute hall, the function will be held in the parlors of Hotel Schenley at 8:30 o'clock this evening. It is regretted the illustrations cannot be used in the parlors.

Senor Pezet is a good talker and thoroughly posted on the subject, being a consul general and secretary of legation. He will wear the Albert Edward medal awarded to him by the prince of Wales, now king of England, for an address he delivered before the Society of Arts and Commerce in London in 1883. He is the only South American thus honored.

TAX CLAUSE MAY BE STRICKEN OUT

Agreement Made With Pittsburgh Railways Company to Revise and Pass Ordinance.

CASE WILL NOW GO TO COURT

Traction Concern Wants to Oppose the Assessment of Receipts on Other Lines—City Solicitor Rodgers Has Ordinance for Delinquent Tax Office Ready.

The officials of the Pittsburgh Railways Company and the residents of the East End, together with representatives of the city councils, have agreed upon a compromise by which an effort will be made tonight in common council to pass the ordinance for the Morningside street railway, connecting Butler street with the East End district. Features objected to by the traction company are to be eliminated.

A few days ago a conference was held by President J. D. Callery of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, the East End people and Councilman W. H. Stevenson. It was agreed that the clause making the franchise subject to any general franchise ordinance that may hereafter be enacted by councils shall be stricken out.

President Callery stated that if this clause was kept in the ordinance the company would not accept the franchise, because it considered this part of the ordinance as a tacit acceptance of the right of the city to levy a general tax on the receipts of all the trolley lines, whereas the company wished to fight in the courts any attempt on the part of the city to levy such a tax.

An ordinance taxing all public service corporations, including street railways, was passed by common council a number of months ago and is now pending in select council. The Citizens declare that this ordinance will be passed by select council soon, although they have made no effort to withdraw it from the committee where it is shelved.

By the agreement reached on the Morningside ordinance the traction company gets the franchises without being compelled to make any acknowlegment that might be embarassing in a possible fight on the larger proposition to tax not only the Morningside, but all the lines of the company.

There may be some objections to the elimination of this clause from the ordinance tonight, but Councilman Stevenson said yesterday that he thought councils could be convinced that it was the proper procedure, and that the city's rights were amply protected by another amendment which he proposes to add.

This amendment will provide that in addition to the $5,000 bonus which the city will receive in advance from the traction company for the Morningside franchise, the company will be compelled to pay the regular tax on cars which it is now paying on other lines.

City Solicitor W. B. Rodgers said yesterday that he had prepared the ordinance changing the delinquent tax office from a fee to a salaried position, and that this ordinance could be had by the special committee of common council if the committee called for it today. D—E. Crawford is chairman of this committee and the ordinance which the city solicitor has drawn is supposed to be in accordance with the views of this committee as to what the compensation of the delinquent tax office ought to be. Considerable interest is manifested in the probable report of the committee, which should be made tonight in view of the statement of the city solicitor.

THIN FOLKS MADE FAT.

The Way Mi-o-na Works Its Wonders. Guaranteed by Schilling Bros. Co., Penn and Frankstown Aves.

In these days of physical culture and health foods, one would hardly expect to see any thin, weak, emaciated people, but in spite of all this nearly every other person you meet is thin and scrawny.

Good, healthy flesh can only be gained by the use of the proper food, together with natural action of the digestive organs. Nine people out of ten, in order to weigh as much as they ought and be perfectly healthy, should use Mi-o-na, the great flesh-forming food and digestion regulator. Weigh yourself before commencing to use these little tablets and see how your weight increases.

Mi-o-na does not contain a particle of pepsin, the basis of the ordinary dyspepsia remedy and which never made a cure of dyspepsia. Mi-o-na has valuable flesh-forming properties, tones up and strengthens the digestive organs, helps digest the food and absolutely and permanently cures the worst forms of dyspepsia.

Schilling Bros. Co., the popular druggists, have sold in the last few weeks a great many packages of Mi-o-na, every one with their personal guarantee to refund the money if it did not give satisfaction, and they have had less than 2 per cent apply for a refund. Just think of it, less than 2 out of every hundred dyspeptics in Pittsburgh who have been using Mi-o-na found that it did not restore health and increase their weight. You run no risk whatever in buying this remedy. If you are not perfectly satisfied with the results Schilling Bros. Co. will return your money.

PRESIDENT PREACHES ON THE DUTY OF CHRISTIANS

Assists at Dedication of Grace Memorial Reformed Church in Washington.

SITS IN THE BISHOP'S CHAIR

Teaches That Practice of Religion is Necessary in the Daily Walks of Life as Well as in Church—Strong Plea for Foreigners.

[The Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The handsome new home of the Grace Memorial Reformed church, which President Roosevelt attends, was dedicated today with appropriate exercises. President Roosevelt, with his family, attended the services and made a brief address.

The Rev. J. M. Schick, the pastor, read the article of consecration, and the Rev. E. R. Eschbach, D. D., of Frederick, Md., preached the dedication sermon. The others who took part in the exercises were the Rev. C. S. Slagle of Westminster, Md.; the Rev. Fang of the Middle Dutch Collegiate Reformed church, New York; the Rev. A. T. G. Apple, Catawissa, Pa.; the Rev. G. A. Snyder, Hagerstown, Md.; the Rev. J. A. Hoffheins, the Rev. J. C. Musser of Philadelphia and the Rev. Robert O'Boyle of Sunbury, Pa.

President Roosevelt occupied one of the two bishop's chairs which he presented to the church. He was introduced by the Rev. Mr. Schick and spoke as follows:

THE DUTY OF SERVICES.

I shall ask your attention to three lines of the dedication canticle: "Serve the Lord with gladness; enter into His gates with thanksgiving, and into His courts with praise. We shall second into the Hill of the Lord? Or who shall stand in His holy place? He that hath clean hands and a pure heart, who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully."

Three better lines could surely not be brought into any dedication service of a church; and it is a happy thing that we should have repeated them this morning. This church is consecrated to the service of the Lord; and we can serve Him by the way in which we serve our fellow men. This church is consecrated to service and duty. It was written of old that "By their fruits ye shall know them," and we can show the faith that is in us, we can show the sincerity of the faith that is in us, only by our deeds forth. The man who is not a tender and considerate husband, a loving and wise father, is not serving the Lord when he goes to church with the words of prayer and praise which come here. Our being in this church, our communion here with one another, our sitting under the pastor and hearing from him the word of God, all these are but preface, show the effects in our lives outside.

DUTY OF REFORMED CHURCH.

We of the Reformed churches have a peculiar duty to perform in this great country of ours, a country still in the making, for we have the duty peculiarly incumbent upon us to further and help those who come each year from over seas to our shores. The man going to a new country is torn by the roots from all his old associations, and there is a period of great danger to him in the time before he gets his roots down in the new country, before he brings himself into touch with his fellows in the new land. For that reason I always take a peculiar interest in the attitude of our churches toward the immigrants who come to these shores. I feel that we should be particularly watchful over them, because of our own history, because we or our fathers came here under like conditions.

No what we have established ourselves let us see to it that we stretch out the hand of help, the hand of brotherhood toward the newcomers, and help them as speedily as possible to shape themselves and to get into such relations that it will be easy for them to walk well in the new life. That is one form of duty peculiarly incumbent upon us of these reformed churches. But we are not to be content if we selfishly sit down and enjoy gifts that have been given and do not try to share them with our poorer fellows coming from every part of the world, who, many of them, stand in such need of the helping hand, who often not only meet too many people anxious to associate with them for their detriment, but too often too few anxious to associate with them for their good.

FRESH CENTER OF EFFORT.

I trust that with the consecration of each new church of the Reformed creed in this our country there will be established a fresh center of effort to get at and to help for their good the people that yearly come from over seas to us. No more important work can be done by our people; important to the cause of Christianity, important to the cause of true national life and greatness here in our own land.

Another thing: Let us, so far as strength is given us, make it evident to those who look on and those who are not of us that our faith is not one of words merely; that it finds expression in deeds. One sad, lamentable phase of human history, is that the very loftiest words, implying the loftiest ideals, have been used as cloaks for the commission of deeds of iniquity. We must in our lives, in our efforts, endeavor to further the cause of brotherhood in the human family; and we must do it in such a way that we shall not be found subjects for complaint or derision in the churches of the United States, in our church, may not be able to find it by pointing out any contrast between our professions and our lives.

This church is consecrated here today to duty and to service, to the worship of the Creator, and to an earnest effort on our part to so shape our lives among ourselves and in relation to the outside world that we may feel that we have done our part in bring a little nearer the day when there shall be on this earth a genuine brotherhood of man.

Grace Memorial Reformed Church, Washington, D. C., at the dedication of which President Roosevelt delivered an address.

AN AUSTRIAN INVASION.

Ironworkers of That Country Are Coming to America Because of Hard Times.

VIENNA, June 7.—There is a wholesale emigration of miners and workmen in the iron districts of Austria to the United States in consequence of the unprecedented stagnation of the iron industry. Hundreds of men have been discharged since the beginning of the year and the mines and iron works are operating on short time. Wages have fallen 30 per cent and in many instances the men are earning less than 50 cents a day and their families are suffering severely.

There is faint hope of any immediate improvement in the situation and whole colonies of workingmen are leaving the country.

PERSONALS

John B. Wood, a member of the Board of Aldermen of Newark, N. J., was a passenger on the Southwest limited last night. He was on his way to Cincinnati on a business trip. Speaking of Newark he said: "Everything in Newark has been at a standstill for several weeks on account of the labor strikes. All building has been suspended. Just before leaving home I learned the good news that the men will return to work tomorrow. The men and the manufacturers placed their dispute in the hands of Dr. William H. Morgan, pastor of the Central Methodist church. He was a lifelong man before entering college for the ministry. He was appointed sole arbitrator and he handed down his decision Friday. He suggested that a conference between the two factions be held, at which an agreement was made with those who asked for shorter hours. The decision is a fair one and meets with the approval of both the manufacturers and the workingmen."

F. Frankle, Elmer Cline and Sylvester Johnson of Indianapolis were passengers on the Pennsylvania Southwest limited last night. They were on their way to Cincinnati to the university, where they are students. Speaking of the college Mr. Johnson said: "We have just concluded our examinations. After the game between the Yale and Princeton teams Saturday a parade took place, which was the greatest the college has had for several years. An interesting feature was the appearance of the class of 1853. There are only 13 members of this class living and they were in line. They were greatly cheered. The commencement marks the 157th anniversary of the institution."

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad brought two trainloads of immigrants to Pittsburgh yesterday. Each train contained 10 cars, having on board a total of about 600 passengers. J. R. Jones of Los Esperanza Mexico, is registered at the Lincoln. He is a mining engineer at the coal mines of the Mexican Coal and Coke company. Regarding the industry in Mexico he said: "Our mines are located in Coahuilla. There are six in operation. All the coal mined is purchased by the Mexican Central railroad. The mines are used to supply the road and much coal is received by transports at Tan Pico port. The company now has 200 coke ovens in operation and is planning for the erection of more."

The alumni of the Western Reserve college will give a banquet tonight at the Schenley hotel. The guests of honor will be Chancellor H. Thwing, president of the college. The reception will begin at 8 o'clock and during the evening several addresses will be given by members.

Victor Pauna made the presentation in a speech in which he lauded the Jacksonian club and Mr. Koehler's branch Democracy in distinguished terms. Mr. Koehler accepted the gifts and promised to work for the club's interests in the future as he had in the past. After the presentation the visitors were entertained in a handsome manner.

TRAILERS ON HILLTOP CARS

Crusade of The Gazette Has Resulted in Benefit to Residents of the South Side.

CHARTER OF STRAP-HANGERS

The Organization Will Be of Great Benefit and It Is Expected Will Largely Increase in Numbers Since Sanctioned by the Court.

As a result of the efforts of The Gazette in making public the bad service of the traction companies the residents of the South Side have been given a treat. On the Birmingham line a trailer has been attached to each car. The extra service will carry about 50 per cent more people. For the Hilltop line the company is making an inspection as to whether the new style long cars can be run. There are several sharp curves and steep grades on the Hilltop line which fact may prevent this being done. During the week the cars were run over the lines and the only difficulty encountered was rounding the curves, and climbing the hill to Eighth street.

At first it was thought the big cars could not climb Brownsville avenue, but when the attempt was made it was discovered that they could be run without extra motive power.

The members of the Straphangers' league, after learning of the result of the hearing for the application for a charter, are confident that the organization will prove of inestimable benefit to the traveling public. They are confident that its membership will greatly increase. The scheme to bring before the companies the various abuses that arise almost daily is looked upon as a good one and will be taken advantage of by the women, who, as a rule, prefer to suffer the abuses rather than humiliate themselves before the deaf-eared officials of the traction companies.

The greatest howl coming from the South Side Hilltop residents is the poor service on the night cars. All points south of Beltzhoover avenue, which includes Beltzhoover, West Liberty, Monteeth borough, and all points on the Castle Shannon and Mt. Lebanon branches, have no night service after midnight. The only cars running are those to the toll gate in Knoxville, and they run only every hour. The Suburban line runs a car every hour and 20 minutes.

The district through Beltzhoover, Monteeth and West Liberty is densely populated and to be deprived of any night car service is a hardship to many. The traction companies have been petitioned several times, but they have ignored the requests.

CONFINED TO CHICAGO.

Indications Are That National Biscuit Strike in That City Wil Be Purely Local.

CHICAGO, June 27.—(Special.)—The biscuit strike scheduled for Tuesday is expected to call out 10,000 men and women working in the various plants of the company in eight large cities. The leaders of the local bakers' union said tonight that by Tuesday evening the big company would be so badly crippled that it would be forced to close all its large factories. The statement of the company issued Saturday indicates that it is ready to measure its strength with the employes.

Tomorrow morning 150 bread and pretzel makers in the Aldrich & Schmidt plant will be notified by their business agents that a strike is on. Later in the day the cracker packers and other workers will be called to join in the struggle.

Telegrams from officials of the National Biscuit Company at St. Louis, Cleveland and Detroit state that they have no knowledge of any contemplated strike at their plants.

Earl Marvin, superintendent of the Pittsburgh interests of the National Biscuit Company, said last night that there was no trouble among the men here. He returned the latter part of last week from New York, and he says that the men were well satisfied with the conditions in that city.

DEAD BANK ROBBER IS AGAIN IDENTIFIED

NEW CASTLE, PA., June 7.—(Special.)—Sheriff James H. Brown today learned that the unknown bank robber killed April 18 at Wampum by Henry P. Willoughby and later identified by the Western penitentiary authorities as Jerry O'Connor, was John Coyle, an Ohio convict. The identification of the dead robber was made with the assistance of the Philadelphia branch of the Pinkerton agency and is absolute. Coyle was sent to the Columbus penitentiary in January, 1901, from Lorain county O., for grand larceny and obtained his freedom about three months before he was killed. The identification was made by means of photographs Sheriff Brown sent to Columbus.

Bonus Wanted for Franchise.

GREENSBURG, PA., June 7.—(Special.)—The Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville Street Railway Company, which recently absorbed the Greensburg & Southern line through Greensburg, has asked the borough of Ludwick for a franchise to traverse West Otterman street and Hamilton street. The company wants to extend the line to connect with the road projected by the Greensburg & West Newton Street Railway Company. The Ludwick council asks a bonus of $1,500. Aids Movement to Obtain Subscription for Worthy London Institutions.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, June 7.—King Edward testified anew his interest in the welfare of the hospitals by attending "hospital Sunday" service at St. Paul's cathedral today, this being the first occasion on which the English monarch has visited the cathedral for any purpose except the Thanksgiving service on the occasion of the coronation last year. It is intended to inaugurate a week of special effort in the collection of funds on behalf of the London hospitals.

Accompanied by Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria, the king drove in an open carriage in semi state to the cathedral. The streets were densely crowded and the king received a great ovation. The prince and princess of Wales and several other members of the royal family, together with the lord mayor and corporation of London, many peers and members of the house of commons were also present at the services.

GERMANY PUTS STOP TO PLAGUE INVESTIGATORS

Death of Physician While Engaged in That Pursuit Causes Government's Action.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, June 7.—In consequence of the death from plague at the Berlin hospital of the young Vienna physician, Dr. Sachs, the government has decided to issue a decree forbidding further experiments with plague germs, the risk of spreading infection being considered more dangerous to the public health than the knowledge gained in studying the deadly microbes justifies.

Dr. Sachs caught the plague in Dr. Koch's bacteriological laboratory for infectious diseases. The laboratory is isolated and the most minute precautions are taken at the doors and windows to prevent the escape of the germs.

No one is allowed to approach or enter the building except the investigators.

The decree forbidding further experiments was determined upon at a conference yesterday at the ministry of education of the sanitary and police authorities in which the emperor's physician, Dr. Leuthold, Prof. Reinerts and other noted specialists participated. Dr. Sachs was sent here by the American government, who intended to use his services in perfecting the sanitary arrangements in Bukowina.

GAMES TODAY.

The Pittsburgh champions yesterday spent a day of rest, an event that has been a very rare one for the past few years. It was the first idle Sunday for the team this season and the sixth in the past four years. Capt. Fred Clarke said he felt like a school boy who had been released from a school room for a long summer's vacation after a hard winter's work.

"Possibly you have never consulted the schedules to see how many Sundays we have been idle in the past four years have you?" said the captain. "Well, we have been off the diamond just six times in that space of time, which dates from the time we came to Pittsburgh from Louisville. Of course we enjoy an idle Sunday, but when we are in the baseball business we must play according to our schedule."

The Pirates surely did make it a day of rest. They rested around their hotels and rooms. It also afforded the opportunity for Otto Kruger to be defeated at his favorite game of pinochle. Oom Paul is the champion player of the Pirate crew and it was up to Thayer Torreyson, the Homestead captain, to administer defeat to him, much to the delight of Kitty Bransfield and the other champions whom he had laid out. Torreyson and Kruger played on the Grand Rapids team several years ago.

Catcher Harry Smith was the only absentee. Smith had one of his fingers shattered last week and Saturday night he left for his home at Massillon to wait until it mends. While he is absent Chief Phelps will do the catching, and in the event of anything going against him Weaver will work behind the bat. Clarke is pleased with his backstop department. He thinks Weaver will do.

"We have not had Weaver long enough to get acquainted with him in all his departments, but mechanically he looks pretty good. He is big and just the man that a pitcher likes to pitch to. He is a good receiver and can throw well. We did not get him because Donovan did not like him, but because St. Louis had four catchers and when we tackled business with Donovan he gave us the choice of Weaver or Nichols and we chose the former."

Fred said yesterday that his brother, Josh, who played on the Homestead team for a few seasons and who is now one of the best outfielders in the Western league, is to be married June 20. The happy intended bride is a young Des Moines girl whom Josh has known since his school days. Josh is putting up a great game in the outfield for Des Moines, and had a chance to go to a certain American league club last spring, but decided to stay with Joe Quinn at Des Moines another season at least. Josh is just 24 years old.

The Philadelphians, under Chief Zimmer, will begin an engagement at Exposition park this afternoon. Sam Leever will be the chief entertainer for the Pirates today.

EACH GETS ONE.

St. Louis and Brooklyn Split Even in Double Header.

ST. LOUIS, June 7.—St. Louis and Brooklyn broke even on a double-header here today. St. Louis winning the first game 4 to 2 and Brooklyn the second 6 to 4. In the first game Evans, who pitched for Brooklyn, was hit hard at times. In the second game St. Louis lost through its wretched fielding and had seven errors tallied against them. Garvin, who pitched for the Brooklyns in the second game, was hit in the groin by a batted ball by Currie and temporarily disabled. He revived in a few moments and gamely continued his work until the end of the eighth inning, when he was relieved by Schmidt. Attendance, 11,000. Score:

BOSTON'S WORK HERE HURTS CANTON CASH BOX

Bean-Eaters Defeat Semi-Professional Team 6 to 0 in Slow Game.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CANTON, O., June 7.—Boston's bad ball playing in Pittsburgh the last week had an unfavorable effect on the cash box here today when the Bean Eaters of the National league played the semi-professional Cantons. Less than a thousand people witnessed the game, not an average Sunday crowd for minor league games and about one-sixth of the size that saw the Detroit-Cleveland game several weeks ago. Gremminger of the Bostons, a Canton boy, was given an ovation and played ball, while others of the team played horse. The Canton team is young and light, and even with the leaguers not playing the game were unable to score. Boston took three runs in the first three innings and held Canton down to one hit and then dragged along to the eighth, when three more were chalked up. The score:

ITHACA, N. Y., June 7.—Coach Courtney announced the order of the 'varsity and freshman crews for the Poughkeepsie regatta today. Capt. No positive determination has been reached regarding the 'varsity four and 'varsity substitutes. The 'varsity eight averages about 175 pounds.

Hungarians in a Fight.

Officer James Mahoney of Allegheny at 3 p. m. Saturday stopped a fight in a Hungarian boarding house on Petrel street and arrested five of the participants, Mike, Joe and Uriah Turke, Joe Sosnki and Andy Reihlaki.

HOMESTEAD TO PLAY W. & J. AND WAYNESBURG

Risher Takes His Team on Trip to Meet Collegians—Tale on Glover.

The Homestead team will leave for Waynesburg this morning on a three-days' trip to play Waynesburg college and Washington and Jefferson college. Risher's crowd will meet the Green county collegians this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon and then travel down the narrow gunge railroad to Washington to play W. and J. Wednesday. Last year was the first that Waynesburg ever won from Homestead, and then it did the trick properly. Two games were played last season, Alex Pearson pitching the first and Ike Lawrence the second. Pearson won his game, but Lawrence had poor support and lost. Homestead beat W. and J. in their game last year.

In the first game at Waynesburg last year Bill Marshall, now with Des Moines, played first for Homestead, and hit the ball so far once that caused the homgrooters to think that the longest hitter in the country was on the Homestead team. Phillips was on the rubber for the collegians and Marshall walloped one of his high fast ones out of the lot and over a creek in the wood. Marshall had four hits in that game. That trip was also the means of getting Thayer Torreyson back into the game. Torreyson accompanied the team and played first base because Third Baseman Denny Salmon missed the train at Washington. Risher needed another player and asked "Heavy" to go to right. The first time up he hit, stole second and surprised the gang by stealing third while the pitcher held the ball. Risher could not wait until he crossed home plate until he was after Torreyson to grab with the mask.

A crowd of local semi-professional players were holding a fanning bee yesterday when one of the talkers suddenly asked how old Andy Glover of the Pittsburgh Amateur club was. One said he was not over 26 years, which was right, when the original interrogator exclaimed: "Why I have been seeing the name of Glover in the box scores ever since I was a kid."

Glover has been playing on local teams for some years, but the reason he has been before the public is the fact that he started with good teams when he was quite young. He was a good player when a mere boy and is one yet. It is said of Glover that several years ago he went with Donlevy and Dan Hildale to Braddock of Allegheny against the McCormick Colts, then about the best amateur team in this section. Glover looked so small compared with the other players that he did not go on the hotel porch with the crowd, but staid up stairs until he could slide out unobserved. The Hilldales won and then he was not afraid to mix with the crowd without being kidded.

FLEW 500 MILES.

J. J. Silvis' Pigeon First to Report from Vandalia, Ill.

The Homestead district of the national association of American Homing Pigeon Fanciers held its fifth old bird race of the season from Vandalia, Ill., the 500 mile station, Saturday. The birds were liberated at 5:30 a. m. The weather was unfavorable, having strong east winds to fly against. The first and only bird to report within record time was a silver hen belonging to J. J. Sylvis of Williamsburg arriving yesterday at 3:23 p. m., making an average speed of 433.54 yards per minute.

The next race will be flown from Warrenton, Mo., the 600 mile station, Saturday, June 20.

AUTOMOBILE CAUSES A FATAL RUNAWAY

NEW YORK, June 7.—(Special.)—Frightened by a big automobile, a horse driven by John Tangee, a wealthy resident of Greenlawn, Long Island, swerved from the road, upsetting the cart and Mrs. Tangee was thrown into a ditch, receiving a fracture of the skull from which she died in 20 minutes. In the excitement no attempt was made to obtain the names of the automobile party, who continued on their way.

LAST OF SCHOOL GAMES THIS WEEK

Shadyside Academy and Pittsburgh High School Teams Finish Dual Meet.

A WESTERN STAR DEFEATED

When the Shadyside academy and Pittsburgh High school athletes conclude their dual field and track meet on Thursday of this week the season locally will then be closed for such games. These schools began a dual three weeks ago, but a heavy rain with an electrical storm drove the contestants and spectators scurrying from the Schenley park oval after shelter. At the time of the interruption Shadyside was ahead, 27 to 10.

The excellent showing of High school in the championship meet Saturday makes its chances for winning from Shadyside much brighter, and one thing is certain, that Shadyside will not have a walk-over if she succeeds in capturing the dual meet. In Saturday's meet High school was not looked upon as winning first place, but when in the middle of the games Capt. Simpson's men began to forge ahead and get a lead of 10 points over Washington and Jefferson, which was leading Kiskiminetas by a few points, there was much satisfaction expressed by the spectators. The field and track teams have done about the best work of any of the high school teams this year, save the hockey team. It must be borne in mind that this is High school's second year in this branch of athletics, and some of the men show promise of developing into star performers.

Kiski's victory was a popular one. Last year Kiski was beaten out of the championship by Shadyside, two points separating these strong rivals for the title. Saturday's meet was just as successful as that of last year, which was considered about the best of its kind ever held in Western Pennsylvania. The only combatting feature was the rain, which could not be helped. One thing that makes the meet so successful is the competent officials. Thomas Laiddy, Jr., is one of the best referees in this section, and he has an able assistant in Joe Thompson of Geneva college. As clerk of course N. W. Shetter of Shadyside academy has few equals. Coach Stagg's big Intercholastic meet for the championship of the west on Saturday at Marshall field, Chicago, was attended by five schools and academies. The championship was won by Lewis institute over Pontiac of Illinois, 22 to 21.

The famous Walter Eckersall of Hyde Park met the Waterloo of his athletic career in the race of the day, the 100-yard dash. William Hogenson, a stronger and larger boy from Lewis institute, who defeated the little Hyde Parker at Evanston, was again Eckersall's conqueror. The race narrowed down to a personal encounter between these two, and Hogenson by winning became the champion interscholastic champion of the west.

Eckersall and Hogenson won the third and fourth firsts in the game last time—0:10. Waller of Menominee, the Wisconsin state champion, ran a poor second to Eckersall. Hogenson and Eckersall jumped away from the bunch at the start. They ran neck and neck for 50 yards. Eckersall was fighting hard, but with apparent ease Hogenson pulled away at the finish and broke the string a yard and a half in the lead. Hogenson's time was 0:10 flat, which equals the western record made by Roddick of Racine last year, equals the Illinois intercholastic record at Champaign by Eckersall and breaks the Chicago interscholastic of 0:10 2-5 made by Longshore of Grinnell.

Hegenson proved his victory in the 100-yard dash was no fluke by repeating in the 220. When it came to the longer race Hogenson won as hard from Eckersall, but beating only by six inches. Eckersall, gritting his teeth, fought for dear life. He was in the lead slightly 12 yards from the finish, but Hogenson, carrying his arms and shoulders in beautiful form, forged ahead. Eight yards down the lasting Hogan had a distinguishable lead. The Hyde Park hero made his dying struggle with a finish spurt which made it look like a dead heat. Hogenson was six or eight inches in the lead, however. His time, 0:22 1-5, was a fraction lower than Eckersall's interscholastic record.

MOTOR PACED RACES TO BEGIN AT THE COLOSSEUM

Three Famous Riders to Furnish Card—Amateur Showing Up Well.

If Jupiter Pluvius will refrain from sending his offerings to Mother Earth today there will be motor paced racing this evening at the Colosseum. Tonight will be the opening of the National Paced League at the Colosseum and will bring together De Guichard, Moran and Meeting in a 15-mile race of three heats of five miles each. The men will follow 14-horse power machines which are good record breakers and there will surely be some go by the wayside.

De Guichard was on the track for a short while yesterday and in his sprints showed much speed. He went around for a few minutes and then quit. The track was wet on account of the rain and the railbirds who were out to see the first workout did not expect to watch a motor paced rider on the wet track.

Besides the motor paced races tonight there will be two amateur events. The amateurs are becoming very much in evidence. For some time past the track has been alive with them practicing for the season's racing, and while there will not be so many out tonight the entry lists later in the season will be much larger. Those who have entered for tonight are J. W. McCue, Charles Leonard, William Hoffert, Sam Chidlow, Wilkie Bright, Wilhelm, Charles Myers, A. Gordon, J. H. White and C. C. Hartman.

READY FOR RACES.

Reliance and Constitution Lay at Mooring in Sandy Hook Bay.

NEW YORK, June 7.—The yachts Reliance and Constitution lay at moorings in Sandy Hook bay tonight, in readiness for the races off Sandy Hook tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Columbia is in dry dock at Bay Ridge and her crew are at work scrubbing her underbody tonight. She will leave the dry dock early in the morning and will sail in the race tomorrow.

Indications are that in tomorrow's race an opportunity will be afforded to test the new boat in rough water, under which conditions she has never been tried.

AMERICAN RIDER WINS RICH AUSTRIAN DERBY

VIENNA, June 7.—Berevesley, owned by M. Blaskovits, a wealthy Hungarian, with the American jockey Charley Van Dusen in the saddle, won the Austrian derby of 100,000 kroner today. Berevesley was favorite in the betting.

IMMENSE CROWD AT PARIS RACES

Vanderbilt's Alpha Runs Fourth in Grand Prix De Paris, Worth 200,000 Francs.

QUO VADIS IS THE WINNER

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, June 7.—The grand prix de Paris, of 200,000 francs, about one mile and seven furlongs, was run at Longchamps today, in the presence of an immense concourse. It was won by Edmond Blanc's Quo Vadis, while his Calvs and Vinicius were respectively second and third. W. K. Vanderbilt's Alpha came in fourth.

Seldom, if ever, has the grand prix attracted a larger and more fashionable assemblage to the Longchamps race course than it did today. Favored by beautiful weather, the crowd began gathering early in the day and by noon many thousands were spread over the immense area within the race course and passed the tedium of waiting by holding picnics on the green award, while still larger numbers lunched under the trees in the Bois de Boulogne surrounding the course. Before 2 o'clock the fashionable visitors began arriving in large numbers and the inclosures and grand stand soon presented a brilliant appearance, being filled to their utmost capacity by a gathering of all that Paris contains of social celebrities.

Among the many Americans present were Consul General Gowdy and Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Wilson Jeffolls. English spectators also were seen in greater numbers than for many years, this being attributed to the fact of King Edward's recent visit and the consequent renewal of cordial relations between the two countries, although the absence of English horses in the race for the grand prix was remarked.

Shortly before the horses paraded for the chief event, the president of the republic, Monsieur Loubet and their suite, arrived in open landaus, with blue liveried outriders and escorted by cuirassiers. There was a rush to see them and cheers were raised as they drove into the paddock, where they occupied the Jockey club's reserved and escorted the party to the presidential stand, in which the members of the diplomatic corps and several ministers were already assembled.

M. Blanc's victory of all three places in the grand prix was well received, as his horses were all popular favorites. President Loubet received and congratulated M. Blanc on winning the grand prix, and soon afterwards the presidential party took its departure with the same ceremony as attended its arrival.

Besides taking fourth place in the grand prix, W. K. Vanderbilt secured third place in the prix du duc d'Aoste with his horse, Bright.

The total amount of the bets made with the Pari Mutuel was 704,669, of which $362,704 was placed on the grand prix.

MAYOR W. B. HAYS IS IN DOUBT

Uncertain as to Whether Bond Money Can Be Used for Anything but Sand Filtration.

RODGERS IS INVESTIGATING

Executive Says That Director E. M. Bigelow Is Not Opposed to the Sand System If Cost Is Reasonable and Result Satisfactory.

City Solicitor W. B. Rodgers is making an examination of the filtration bonds and ordinances to ascertain whether the money voted by the people for clarifying the water can be used for any other system than sand filtration. The inquiry is being made at the request of Mayor Hays.

"I am opposed to any scheme for filtering the water that does not include the South Side," said Mayor Hays. "I do not know what it will cost to acquire the plant of the Monongahela Water Company, but I am determined that the whole city is to have pure water or there will not be any filtration system.

"I am unable to say whether we have enough money to build a sand filtering plant which would be large enough to supply the entire city. There is also a question as to whether we could use the money obtained by the bond issue of several years ago for any other purpose than sand filtration. I have requested Solicitor Rodgers to make a careful examination of the bonds and ordinances relating to them. When we get his decision we will know just what can be done. I also find that a large amount of the bond issue has been expended."

The mayor was asked if Director E. M. Bigelow is opposed to sand filtration. "Bigelow is not opposed to this method of clarifying the water," said he, "if the cost is within reason and the results are satisfactory. We are not committed to either sand or mechanical filtration. I am in favor of a committee of councils making a thorough investigation of the entire subject before anything is done. It may be found that the cost of sand filtration will be too great, as it may be necessary to bring gravel from a distance and this would prove very expensive."

CONSERVATORIES AND ZOO HAD THE CROWDS

Park Visitors Spent Most of the Time Indoors Because of Weather.

Threatening storm clouds with intermittent dumps of rain had the effect yesterday of diminishing the number of people who usually throng the city parks on summer Sundays. Several thousand took chances on the weather to visit the zoo or to drive over the smooth boulevards, and there was no appreciable diminution in the number of automobiles speeding over the picturesque roads.

During the day between 6,000 and 7,000 persons journeyed to the zoo, according to the estimate of Head Keeper Ernest Tretow, and the animal house was crowded to its utmost capacity during the shower of the afternoon. There, the chief attraction continues to be the three baby lions, who are celebrating their second birthday today, which means that they are two months old, not two years. Greater Pittsburgh Bill, Lady Burdick and Carrie Nation take their age lightly and have not lost any of their playfulness.

Among the new arrivals at the zoo are small alligators, about a year old, which were received from Theodore J. Allen of Charleroi. So far they have scarcely had an opportunity of making the acquaintance of the other denizens of the pool, which is, barring their demise, or possible alterations in the building, to be their home for a number of years to come, for alligators having plenty of time before them, take life leisurely.

Not knowing the disposition of their fellow inmates, therefore, the youngsters are keeping by themselves in a corner of their quarters. There also arrived last week a new snake, of a lively shade of green, which promises to be an interesting addition to the zoo reptile famut when he gets through the process of waking up lost sleep.

There was a constant stream of visitors during the day at the Phipps conservatories. In the propagating hot houses there is considerable activity in bringing along the chrysanthemums for the autumn exhibition. The nucleus of the present exhibit is formed by caladiums of a number of bright-colored varities, and this will be replaced during the summer by a large collection of gloxinias, which are already beginning to come into bloom. The gloxinias will hold the center of the stage until chrysanthemum time arrives.

There was a fair attendance at the afternoon organ recital in the Carnegie music hall, considering the uncertainty of the weather conditions and the fact that the summer season has set in. W. K. Steiner, who is taking the place of Edwin H. Lemare during the latter's absence, offered an attractive program, which found a responsive audience.

NO CLUE TO THE GREEK.

Allegheny Police Still in Dark as to the Toll House Woman Mystery.

Despite all efforts put forth by the Allegheny police they have been unable to secure a clue to the whereabouts of Vasilios Petropoulakes, proprietor of the fruit store at the Allegheny end of the Seventh street bridge, where the body of a woman was found by the firemen called to extinguish a blaze caused by an explosion last Thursday night.

It is evident the Greek has not been in the country more than a year. Among papers in the hands of the police are his first naturalization papers. They were secured in Mahening county, Ohio, April 15.

The last trace of the man was when he crossed the Sixth street bridge. Before he started over the bridge he said his hands were burned and that he was going to people in Pittsburgh to have them attended to. This leads the police to think that he is in Pittsburgh among friends, and is being concealed for fear of being arrested on a charge of murder.

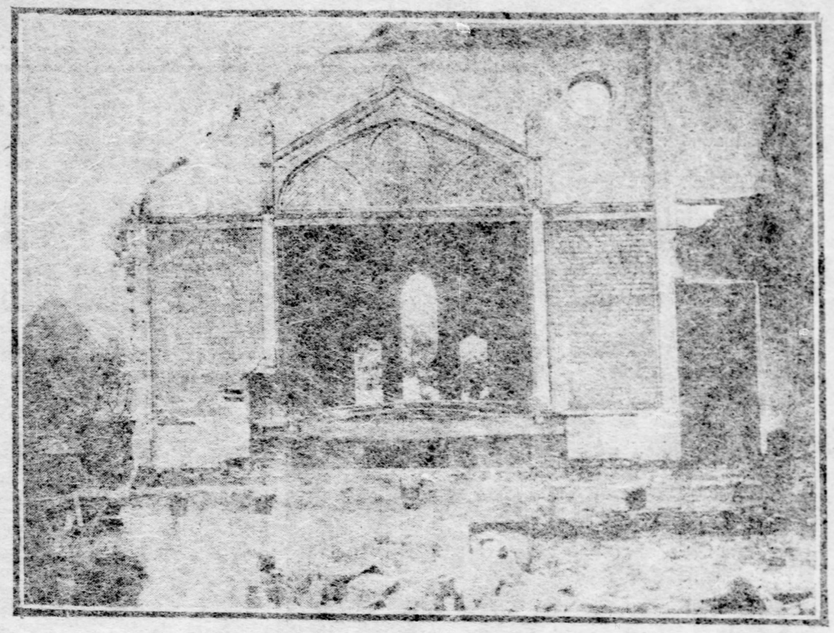
BEER THIEF CAUGHT, BUT HURT POLICEMAN

Daniel Connolly broke into the wholesale liquor store of Bernath Weiss in Braddock avenue, Bessemer, early yesterday morning and was caught by the proprietor taking bottles of beer from the ice chest. Patrolman Bennett was called by Weiss. Connolly hit Bennett over the head with a pick handle. Chief of Police Broderick and Officers Thomas Sullivan and J. J. O'Brien were summoned, who arrested Connolly. A charge of housebreaking and one of assault and battery will be made against him.

They Drove Too Fast.

John Duffy of No. 4067 Penn avenue and J. M. Feeny of No. 22 Third street were arrested in East street, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon and taken to the North Side Central station on a charge of fast driving. Duffy was released on a forfeit, but Feeny was locked up. They will be given a hearing today.

TEN COMMANDMENTS DEFACED BUT STILL LEGIBLE.



Ruins of the First Presbyterian Chapel.

With all the rest of the old First Presbyterian church structure in Wood street destroyed, there still remains the rear end of the chapel where the pulpit stood, and on each side are the 10 commandments of Moses. The ruins are impressive and they seem to oast on each passerby a feeling of historic interest.

These ruins have stood as they are for several days, this part of the building not needing for the present to give way to the new building which is to occupy the site. It is safe to say that not for a long time have so many Pittsburghers had the Mosaic law impressed upon them, for the loneliness of the sight has caused many to stop and gaze upon the place. The commandments stand out in bold relief and even he who runs may read.

Few of the older residents of the city who pass along Wood street fail to stop, if only for a moment to look the ruins over. There are few buildings left in the downtown portion of the city which have stood so long as the old First Presbyterian church. It has been a real landmark and in its passing there is to very many an element of loss. That this will be compensated by the handsome new structure to go up in Sixth avenue beside old Trinity will no doubt be found very true.

HOSPITAL ASSOCIATION MAKES NEW HIGH RECORD

Receipts Were Almost 50 Per Cent Greater Than Those of Last Year.

Prosperity increased the receipts of the Saturday and Sunday Hospital association nearly 50 per cent this year. The report for the year ended June 1 was made public yesterday. The money is divided among the hospitals according to the amount of free work each institution can show, which this year was as follows:

	Free Days.	Amount Received for Year.
West Penn Hospital	46,386	$8,250 00
Homeopathic Hospital	25,696	3,875 00
Allegheny General Hospital	15,225	1,125 00
Pittsburgh Hospital for Children	8,088	656 00
St. Johns' General Hospital	6,195	466 50
South Side Hospital	5,975	485 40
Presbyterian Hospital	1,581	212 50
Free Dispensary, office privileges		75 00
Totals	109,806	$8,090 00

Three hundred free resident patients were cared for every day of the year in the associated hospitals, an increase of 9,401 days over the previous year.

The collection of $8,090 was the greatest in the history of the association. For eight years there has been a steady growth. In 1896 the sum distributed was $1,815.31; in 1897, $1,800 48; in 1898, $2,167 65; in 1899, $2,200; in 1900, $2,200; in 1901, $3,825; in 1902, $5,700; in 1903, $8,090. The increase this year over last year is greater than the total collections amounted to prior to 1901.

The association under its present management has made such progress that the members feel that its usefulness to the unfortunate poor is just commencing. Bishop Cortlandt Whitehead of the executive committee has set a mark at $20,000, and a strong effort will be made to reach it next year.

Secretary Samuel Harper has been given two months' vacation and on July 1, accompanied by his wife, will sail on the Oceanic for England.

SERMONS TO STUDENTS.

Dr. Van Dyke Preached at Princeton and President Taylor at Vassar.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 7.—The Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke preached the baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class today.

"My prayer for Princeton," he said, "is that she may be as high as a mountain, lifted up into the realms of knowledge, faith and love, and my prayer for you is that you may receive from Christ not only the watchword of this nobler life, but also the power to fulfill it."

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 7.—At Vassar President J. M. Taylor in his baccalaureate sermon said:

"While it is true that war lifts us above the unessential and rouses us to the highest pitch of enthusiasm, there are other forces equally great which move our modern society. The sense of the brotherhood of men and international unity was never so strong as now. When we consider all the sources of moral motive power, it is not necessary to find the equivalent of warfare, but we do need to find an ideal of life which will withstand the commercial spirit of our age."

FIREMEN WERE INJURED.

Several Struck by Debris at Big Warehouse Blaze in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, June 7.—Fire insurance adjusters place the loss on the Buffalo Carting and Storage Company's plant and contents carly today at $400,000. About 85 per cent of the loss is covered by insurance. The building was used for storage purposes by the Lake Shore railroad. It was filled with machinery and other goods stored for manufacturing concerns of other cities. Three-quarters of the loss falls upon the owners of the goods in the warehouse.

The fire was discovered shortly before 2 o'clock and an hour later the entire building was in flames. Several small frame buildings adjoining the warehouse were crushed to the ground when the heavy walls on either side of the burning building fell. Squads of firemen narrowly escaped being caught under the piles of brick. Several of them were hit, but no one was seriously hurt.

ELLIOTT OBJECTED TO LEAVING JAIL

"I don't want to leave jail; I have three more days to serve," insisted Harry Elliott when he was forced out of the jail yesterday. He had been committed for 20 days for disorderly conduct. His term expired yesterday morning, but Elliott refused to leave. He contended that his time was not up, and that he did not want to leave the institution on Sunday, as he could not get work. Three keepers were summoned and they ejected Elliott. Elliott is a lamp trimmer on steamboats. He is 19 years old.

NO MEETING WILL BE CALLED BY STEVENSON

Opposed to Breck as Compromise Candidate—Says Moore Will Be Re-Elected Chairman.

Councilman W. H. Stevenson, temporary chairman of the Citizens organization of the Fourteenth ward, refuses to accept Capt. E. Y. Breck, the Bigelow candidate, as a compromise for ward chairman and declares that W. J. Moore will be re-elected chairman. Mr. Stevenson said yesterday that he had no intention of calling a meeting in the near future, notwithstanding the decision reached by the Bigelow people Saturday night at a secret meeting to request a meeting to be held tonight.

"There is no necessity for an organization of the ward committee just now," said Mr. Stevenson. "It is simply a case of the tail trying to wag the dog. We have a majority of the members of the ward committee and the claim that the other side had 23 out of the 45 members of the committee at the meeting Saturday night is absurd. I know that they did not have enough members and cannot get enough members to organize the committee. It takes 25 members of the committee to make a quorum and to transact business.

"All the trouble in the Fourteenth ward organization is caused by some Democrats in the four districts of the lower end of the ward trying to get the organization in their control."

ITALIAN FELT INSULTED.

Slashed the Man Who Inadvertently Jostled Him.

Henry Kamke is the third citizen in two months who has been cut by Italians that were unintentionally jostled on the street. Kamke lives at No. 9011 Derry street. Last night he was walking along Larimer avenue and bumped against an Italian. The sensitive foreigner chattered indignantly for awhile and then drew a knife with which he slashed Kamke across the left side, inflicting a wound several inches long. The assassin ran over the Larimer avenue bridge and escaped.

Several citizens went to Kamke's aid and Policeman Grant Stover sent him to the East End hospital in the patrol wagon. The doctors said his wound is not serious.

Negro Held Up an Italian.

Thomas Carlyle, a negro, held up Miguel Cervantes, an Italian employe of the Edgar Thomson steel works, on his way home yesterday morning at 2 o'clock. Carlyle had taken a half dollar from the Italian when Officer Simon Hoover came along and captured him. Burgess Albert P. Reed sentenced Carlyle to three months in the workhouse.

RAIN HAD NO TERRORS FOR THE PARK VISITORS

Good Programs Enjoyed by Many Who Were Traction Company's Guests.

Notwithstanding the rain there were good-sized crowds at the traction parks yesterday. At Kennywood Roccato's band entertained many people. Reklaw, the trick cyclist, caused fun with his antics as he rode about the park. He will be retained all next week.

At Calhoun in the afternoon Miss Adelaide St. Clair made a balloon ascension. In the evening her sister, Gertrude, made the ascension, and she proved herself equally efficient in the way she handled the big machine. The Phinney band gave both concerts. Phinney's famous descriptive number, "From Battlefield to Fireside," received the usual amount of applause. The Princess Chinquilla, Edward Newell and Miss Lola Haynes proved attractive.

Oakwood's concerts were given by the Third Regiment band. One of the numbers that never fails to please Pittsburgers was a medley of Stephen C. Foster's plantation melodies, and the way in which the band played them caused rounds of approval. L. Claire McLaughlin sang a number of songs that pleased his auditors. Edwin Kelly, the whistler, gave imitations as well as singing airs with accompaniment.

The band concerts at Southern park were in charge of the Library band of Braddock, under the direction of W. I. Mayer. Selections from several popular operas were played, and a humorous descriptive piece entitled "The Hunting of the Snark" made many laugh as the musicians portrayed different phases of the "hunt." The piece wound up with a lively "skedaddle" that livened up the most sedate listeners. Another good descriptive piece was "The Trumpeter of San Juan," which was well played. Miss Katherine Miller was the woman vocalist, while Frank Whitman, who dances, sings and plays a violin at the same time, pleased all who were there.

Oakwood will have a big vaudeville bill this week, headed by the Princess Chinquilla, the only reservation Indian in vaudeville. Southern park's free vaudeville will be headed by the Ansell troupe of dancing girls.

AMBITION COST LIFE.

Messenger Boy Killed Through His Anxiety to Assist His Mother.

PHILADELPHIA, June 7.—(Special.)—Ambition and duty cost the life of Thomas Boland, a 12-year-old messenger, who was killed by a trolley car at Frankfort street and Columbia avenue today. The boy had been at his home, 905 North Darien street, and gave his mother $4 85, his last week's wages.

"I have to go on duty again tonight," he said. "We are short handed, and I'll have a chance to make it even $5 for you before I quit." It was after midnight before he had "made it an even $5," and then he "quit," quit for good.

Anxious to save his money for his mother, Boland ran after a Columbia avenue car. He hung onto the rear fender. In some manner he was jostled off, and before he could get up a car following killed him. CHESTER D. POTTER.

Ordained a Deacon.

In St. Mary Memorial chapel yesterday morning the Rt. Rev. Cortland Whitehead, Episcopal bishop of Pittsburgh, ordained Rudolph Schulz as a deacon. The young man is a graduate of Cambridge Divinity school, Cambridge, Mass. The bishop will hold another ordination service on Sunday, June 21.

REAL ESTATE MEN MAKE MORE LAND

Atlantic City Is Steadily Extending Boundary Lines in All Direction.

NEW SUBURB IS IN EVIDENCE

Board Walk Will Be Lengthened to Meet Advances of the Village of Ventnor. New Jetty to Be Built—Charles M. Schwab Gives Up His Cottage.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Young's Ocean Pier,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 7.

Wonderful changes are being made on the Meadows between Virginia and Ohio avenues. Dredgers are at work filling in several hundred acres of land which will be available for building purposes in the fall. The Pennsylvania railroad is filling up a large section of meadow to be used for the storage of cars, while the meadow side of the city is rapidly undergoing a transformation. As a matter of fact, the island has become too small to hold all of the visitors, and no land being available near the center of the city, it was necessary for the real estate promoters to make it by pumping sand out of the back thoroughfare on to the meadows. South of the city the new town of Ventnor is busily preparing to annex itself to Atlantic City. The boardwalk, which will face the new city, will be attached to the Atlantic City walk. That will give the visitors another mile or more of walking to get to the end of the promenade. It is a mania with many of the visitors to seek out the end of the structure, but few of the thousands who attempt it ever reach it.

NEW JETTY IS PROJECTED.

A company has been formed to undertake the building of a huge jetty in the inlet which, it is expected, will restore much of the beach which has been washed away during the last 30 years. Promoters will meet here tomorrow and give out the contract. Prof. Haupt has designed the jetty, and he declares that it will create an immense tract of land. It is planned by the engineer to build a jetty which will cause the water to sweep away this big bar. The bar which he means to move terminates almost directly in front of the end of the Heinz pier. The engineer's plan is to construct of piling and stone a massive jetty 1,850 feet in length. A civil engineer will watch its effect on the ocean front of the city. If the jetty does the work expected of it, the sand bar will be shifted by the action of the water from the middle of the inlet to the ocean front, and that part of the boardwalk which is now directly over the breakers will be several hundred feet inland. The government has abandoned the channel on the Atlantic City side of the bar and has marked off with bouys the middle channel on the opposite side.

SCHWAB GIVES UP HIS COTTAGE.

Charles M. Schwab has given up the lease of his cottage at No. 116 South Pennsylvania avenue and will not be a resident of Atlantic City this summer. The cottage has been leased to Charles Eberhart, the millionaire brewer, at a rental of $5,000 for four months.

SHE WAS NOT POISONED.

Death of Woman at Homeopathic Hospital Had Some Suspicious Features.

A post-mortem examination was held yesterday on the body of Elizabeth Clark, who died at the Homeopathic hospital under mysterious circumstances on Friday, and it was found that death was due to heart disease. It was learned that the woman was not Elizabeth Clark, but Mrs. Harvey Eckerman of South Twenty-second street.

The woman came to the hospital early last week and was suffering from rheumatism. Her condition was not serious. She received a woman visitor Friday afternoon and the two had some words. They apparently settled their differences and the visitor administered her medicine to her. After the stranger left the hospital the woman was taken suddenly ill.

The symptoms were similar to those of poisoning. The hospital authorities became suspicious and asked Coroner Jesse M. McCleary to hold a post-mortem examination. The woman was about 35 years old. Her body was turned over to her relatives.

TRAGEDY CAUSED WATTERSON'S IRE

Courier-Journal Editor Explains Why He Criticised the Newport Smart Set.

WAS A FRIEND OF REMINGTON

Former Pittsburgher Who Met Mysterious Death at Summer Resort Was His Father's Chum and Schoolmate—Don't Care What the Snobs Do.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LOUISVILLE, June 7.—Henry Watterson, in an editorial in the Courier-Journal, says it was friendship for the elder Remington that caused him to expose the smart set last year. He says:

"The matter respecting that smart set, the 400, which appeared in the Courier-Journal, was germane to a dreadful, heartbreaking tragedy at Newport. Knowing the parties and the facts, we drew the line, if not at murder, at least at suicide. Having said what seemed needful to be said, we passed to other scenes and events.

"The journalist, like the actor, is a creature of the moment, the merest abstract and chronicle of the time, who, dying, leaves no copy. This editor of the Courier-Journal is not a crusader; he is a journalist, instinct with the love of life and the reflection of its currencies; perhaps a little instinct with the love of truth, assuredly not, as the career of the Courier-Journal will show, a lover of the strife or sensations. He was born to what is called society and grew up in it at Washington and in New York, living in it somewhat later on in London and in Paris, and even he has no reason to blush for admitting it at Newport. All that he said in what he wrote of the Remington tragedy he personally knew to be true. Every word of it has been more than vindicated by succeeding events and the repeated outgivings of others besides Mr. Carnegie, Dr. Hale and Prof. Peabody.

"Alas and alack the day we set out to defend ourselves against a fictitious accusation in a mock court with the purpose of being facetious. We meant to say a lot of smart things of the smart set. The words refuse to come to us. We do not mean to be mawkish, but the dead body of that young man lying there in the casino at Newport comes back to us, and his father's friend and schoolmate, we cannot make light of it. To say the truth, no sensible man could care anything the one way or other about the smart set. The four hundred must be to such a one a matter of total indifference. As to the Courier-Journal, it spoke out a little indignantly. Perhaps somebody gaffed it and then it struck out, and perhaps it has regretted it ever since because it started so many fool pens agoing."

NEW DEPARTMENT IN NEW QUARTERS

Secretary Cortelyou's Branch of the Government Occupies the Willard Building.

HOW THE SPACE IS DIVIDED

Handsome Eight-Story Structure in Fourteenth Street, Washington, Will Be Temporary Home of Important Portion of Federal Machinery.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Tomorrow the department of commerce and labor will be located in its new home, the Willard building, in Fourteenth street, only a few doors from Pennsylvania avenue, though it will be a few days later before Secretary Cortelyou moves from his present quarters in the Builders' Exchange.

The new building is a handsome eight-story structure with an ornately designed freestone front. On the eight floors there are 104 rooms. All are well lighted and designed with special reference to the work of the several bureaus. As the department of commerce and labor after July 1 will be one of the largest departments in the government, all the bureaus cannot be accommodated in the new building. Several of them, notably the United States fish commission, the present department of labor, the lighthouse establishment, the census office and the bureau of statistics, will remain in their present quarters until a permanent building for the department shall have been erected. Some of the other bureaus now in existence in other departments will be located in the Willard building after July 1.

The rooms of the first floor of the new department will be used for files, mailing and storage purposes. The chief clerk and disbursing office, with their clerical forces, will occupy the second floor. Secretary Cortelyou, with his immediate force, will occupy part of the third floor. The assistant secretary and the department solicitor will take up nearly the whole of the fourth floor. The fifth and sixth floors will be occupied by Commissioner Garfield and his bureau of corporations. The bureaus of standards and of immigration will be on the seventh floor, while the bureau of steamboat inspection probably will be on the eighth floor. As yet the assignment of some of the bureaus is tentative. A place in the new building will be found for the bureau of manufactures, but thus far it has not been located.

CHOATE HURRIES TO WASHINGTON

Is Believed to Have Been Summoned for Conference on European Troubles.

RUSSIA AT THE BOTTOM OF IT

American Ambassador to England Makes Record Trip to Capital—Diplomats Are Watching the Situation Closely. Count Cassini Is Active.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Room 16, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., June 7.

That important negotiations, international in extent and bearing some relation to the attitude of America and Great Britain toward certain events in which Russia is interested, are now under consideration was made evident today by the hurried visit of Ambassador Choate to Washington. Mr. Choate arrived at the capital early this morning and was with President Roosevelt for nearly two hours, being a guest at the White House at luncheon. In the afternoon Secretary Root called for him at the Willard hotel and took him for a drive, during which a call was made on Attorney General Knox. This evening Mr. Choate dined with Sir Michael Herbert at the British embassy and later took the midnight train for New York.

No official statement was made as to the topic of any of the conferences in which the American ambassador to Great Britain participated. But in view of the fact that the Jewish situation and the Manchurian question are two topics of great importance in the minds of cabinet members it is presumed that Mr. Choate came here to express his views at the solicitation of the president.

There is ample reason to believe that Ambassador Choate conferred with the British ambassador, Sir Michael Herbert, on the impression given out by Ambassador McCormick that the larger part of the news of the Jewish situation in Russia comes to the American public through English sources. Secretary Hay, however, is known to be skeptical on this question, and it is said that America's attitude is based on news reached first hand.

Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, intends to call on President Roosevelt tomorrow to discuss Russo-American relations, and especially the agitation in the United States aroused by the cruelties to Hebrews in Kishineff. The administration here is fully aware that the Russian government is much annoyed because the display of anti-Russian sentiment at mass meetings in the United States still continues.

Mr. McCormick will confer with the president in regard to the Kishineff disturbances. Mr. McCormick before leaving St. Petersburg was satisfied that the Russian authorities were inclined to do all possible to better the situation.

THE SUNDAY GAZETTE HAS AN AIM, AND ALWAYS HITS THE MARK.

Few persons in the history of the world have achieved success who have not had some definite object or aim. It is the same with newspapers. The object of The Sunday Gazette is to instruct, keep posted and entertain its thousands of readers. That it is successful there are abundant proofs, for the list of subscribers is constantly swelling and the advertising patronage becoming larger in the same proportion that The Sunday Gazette becomes better.

To a critical reader there was nothing with which there could be found fault in yesterday's Gazette. All the news of all the world was in its 48 pages and six sections. The magazine part also was bright and up to date. Payne and his Coon Hollow bunch, Hennig's Mother Goose rhymes and Outcault's delineation of the doings of Buster Brown, all in colors, did not fail to please the old as well as the young, as did the other comic features. No other paper in this section has its departments so well handled as has The Sunday Gazette.

Some of the features that appeared in yesterday's paper were as follows: Interesting Society, Women's Clubs, Sports, Financial and Markets, Kentucky Feuds, Many Immured in Asylums, First Aid to the Injured, Books, Ruskin's Dream, Labor, Theatrical, Youngstown's Natural Park, Coon Hollow Folks, The Brownies, Mother Goose, Child and Nature, Innocence in Art, Buster Brown, Child Models of Pittsburgh, Fashion's Frivols, Art in Terra Cotta, An Afternoon With the Summer Girl, The Poisoned Octave, How to See Roosevelt, and many other good articles.

Man Arrested in New York Said to Have Fleeced Thousands of Gullible Persons.

The names of about 20 residents of Pittsburgh, Allegheny and vicinity are among those of several thousands of supposed clients of "H. Bradford Clark, Jr.," alias Cartright, who was arrested and held in a Brooklyn police court yesterday at the request of New York detectives.

The police declare that he is a well-known swindler and that he recognized his picture in the rogue's gallery and admitted his identity. It is believed he has secured thousands of dollars from victims thoughout the country by promising to help people to beat the races.

Several persons in this city, who were named by the New York detectives as having been ported from their money in the alleged get-rich-quick scheme, denied all knowledge of Clark or Cartright, or that they had been swindled out of any money. Among the other names were those of a number of persons whose circumstances make the probability of their investment of money in amounts of any size extremely doubtful.

COWBOY MURDERERS GUARDED BY SETTLERS

Citizens Determined That Slayers of Berry Family Shall Not Escape.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

TOPEKA, KAN., June 7.—A message from St. Francis says Clarence Dewey and his cowboys, under arrest for the alleged murder of the Berry family last week, are yet safe. The settlers have formed a quasi-military organization. It is understood, and are outspoken in their determination that Dewey and his men shall not escape.

A military company from Osborne is on its way to St. Francis. More than 50 miles of the distance will have to be covered by an overland march, however, and it will be Tuesday before they can reach there. The sheriff of Cheyenne county thinks he can protect the men until the arrival of the militia.

ELECTRIC WIRES KEEP AGITATORS FROM MINES

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., June 7.—(Special.)—A. W. Jones, president of the State Federation of Labor, returned to Huntington today after a two weeks' trip through the New River coal fields. In that district he says nearly every operation is surrounded by wires heavily charged with electricity and that the miners are not allowed to leave the stockade. Thus the miners' officers have no opportunity to prevail on the men to quit work.

This Terrapin Is an Old One.

YORK, PA., June 7.—(Special.)—On his farm near Blate Hill, Nelson B. Cooper, a blacksmith, discovered a large terrapin on the shell of which were carved the initials, "G. T. P." and the dates 1808 and 1847. The supposition is that the initials are those of Gilson T. Pennock, who in 1808 lived in the vicinity where the terrapin was found.

The attractions will include also a big display of relics. The famous Grand Army band of Canton will attend with 50 pieces.

ONE OF FIRST GLASSBLOWERS

WILLIAM HALL, of Greensboro, Pa.

MASONTOWN, PA., June 7.—(Special.)—William Hall of Greensboro, Greene county, Pa., whose photograph used for this picture was taken by Hawkins & Johnson of this place, was born in Greensboro, Feb. 15, 1817. He learned the trade of glassblowing in Washington, D. C., in 1832. He worked as tender for two years and blowed glass one year in Washington, D. C. In 1837 he blowed the glass for the dome of the capitol, which was ground on a grindstone by Frederick Stinger, superintendent of the factory at the time. Frederick Stinger died in Greensboro, 1845. Major Cross, quartermaster general of the United States army, was the owner of the factory and carried on its work until there was threatened war between the United States and France, when Maj. Cross was ordered to duty and the business of the factory was brought to a close.

Mr. Hall voted for Martin Van-Buren for president, and has always voted the Democratic ticket ever since. Two glass milk pails are now in the Smithsonian institute at Washington, D. C., that were the work of Mr. Hall, who is still living in Greensboro and in good health.

TEXTILE WORKERS STRUCK FOR SANITARY REASONS

Unions Claim That Long Hours Endangered Health of Employes.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 7.—The working committee of the Central Textile union, composed of one delegate from each union or strike, met at strike headquarters today and considered the situation. After a five hours' session, the committee in conjunction with the executive board of the textile workers issued a long statement to the public, giving reasons for the strike of over 75,000 men, women and children.

The statement says that the strike was ordered for sanitary reasons, that it was necessary because the health of the men, women and children were at stake. The statement called attention to the fact the children were compelled to work 10 and three-quarter hours a day in the mills from Monday to Friday and six and one-quarter hours on Saturdays.

The statement also declares that the textile industry as shown in statistics produced before the anthracite coal strike committee is deadlier than the mining industry, that the workers in the mills where there is always dust are subject to pulmonary diseases. The statement asks for the support of the public and reiterates the willingness of the workers to meet their employers for a conference.

An excited crowd gathered and chased the Italian from the town.

ENCOURAGED BY RAIN.

Local Rivermen Hoping for a Boating Stage of Water Soon.

Owing to the heavy rains which have fallen in different portions of the country, in many cases causing floods, the local rivermen are expecting a rise in this district at most any time. In anticipation of this the Consolidated Coal and Coke Company has just completed hitching 32 steamboats to coal fleets ready to make a down-river trip as soon as a rise appears. There is 2,000,000 tons of coal in the first pool, and with a rise of three feet it will be sent south. The barges and coal boats in the up-river pools are all loaded ready to be conveyed to market.

The Harry Brown, which left Pittsburgh some time ago with a fleet of coal to points below Cairo, has started on its return with a large number of empties. It passed Cairo yesterday and, according to reports, will have no trouble in getting to Louisville by Wednesday. With the present stage of water the tow will be able to reach Cincinnati, and, should the Ohio rise, will reach Pittsburgh in time to take out another fleet before the river falls.

There was rivalry between the French J. Torrance and the Mayflower yesterday. Both boats ran excursions from the Pittsburgh wharf. The mainstorm finished with the crowd. The Mayflower had two bands on board and this assisted in getting the majority of pleasure seekers on that boat.

The Beauty took a large number of people from Madison avenue, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon. The trip was made on the Monongahela.

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 3 feet and the river was falling.

PRICES ARE REACHING THEIR NORMAL LEVEL

Those Responsible for Inflation in Security Market Are Chief Sufferers in the Inevitable Reaction Now in Progress.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 7.—Wall street enters upon the second week of June with prices reduced 20 to 100 points from the high level reached in the recent craze. Much bad news has already been discounted by the fall in prices. Some stocks, judged by old standards, before millions and hundreds of millions of new capital was issued upon the properties, have reached a level attractive for cash buyers, provided the industrial reaction does not assume alarming proportions, satisfactory earnings continue and the present dividend rates are maintained.

Even though liquidation in the security market has not resulted in heavy loan contraction and was attended during the week by advancing, not relaxing money rates—a clear indication that heavy borrowing or contraction of credit somewhere was forcing the hand of week holders—much good has been accomplished by the forced selling. The process of absorption has made further progress. Stocks have passed into stronger hands and have been forced to a level which makes them more desirable, as bank collateral, than a year ago, when some conservative bankers feared to loan even on standard stocks at their inflated prices.

In many respects the country has profited by the stock declines. It has been painful to those who have suffered, but as in most instances they were chiefly responsible for the craze of over-capitalization the burden has fallen where it properly should. To the community in general the liquidation has been fortuitous which brought stocks to the present level at this time, when the country has to face agricultural, industrial and monetary uncertainty. What might have happened if the United States circuit court of appeals had rendered a decision favorable to the Northern Securities Company and started the speculation debauch anew, is not difficult to imagine. Probably Wall street would not be felicitating itself over the fact that it has withstood fearful shrinkages without disaster. The accumulation of bad news would have fallen, not upon a market chastened by reverses, with prices working toward bedrock, but upon one filled with a wild public seeking to outdo one another in bidding up prices, while the thimbleriggers were spreading their stories of eastern and western and southern securities companies to whet the public imagination.

Wall street enters upon the second week of June with some self evident improvement, in that prices are low, but with a future by no means clear. Liquidation of the character to which the street has recently been treated, occurring in a time of apparent monetary ease, can scarcely have run its full course. The purging is doubtless complete in some quarters, and it may be checked from time to time elsewhere, but the entering upon an interval of monetary stringency, were such to develop, would probably start it afresh. The possibility of uncovering weak spots, such as that which was disclosed in Canada during the week, is rendered more likely as the market approaches the period of monetary tension. The mischief wrought through company promotion and over-capitalization was not confined to New York or Canada alone. Countless cities throughout the land have their capitalists, promoters and speculators. They have their promotion schemes, small in comparison with the United States Steel or the shipping trust, but aggregating large amounts including the flotation of electric light and electric traction plants, brewing, milling and manufacturing concerns, and other local enterprises, all represent a change of floating into fixed capital. All alike are tugging at bank resources.

LONDON MARKET WEAK.

General Depression Caused by Uncertain Conditions in Wall Street.

LONDON, June 7.—The steady influx of gold promises to bring about an early reduction in the bank rate. The uncertain conditions on Wall street acted as a check on all the markets of the stock exchange last week, and the continued weakness of South African shares contributed to the general depression. The only steady market was for some foreign bonds, particularly French securities, which were affected favorably by the sultan's consent to the unification of the Turkish debt.

American securities closed better on Saturday when it was found that the rumors that leading operators were embarrassed were lacking in confirmation, but a very apprehensive feeling still prevails regarding this market. Canadians were also depressed, with the exception of Grand Trunks, which were firm on unexpectedly good traffic returns.

CARNIVAL IS A SUCCESS.

Building Trades Council Committee Says Outlook Is Bright for the Labor Exchange.

The regular meeting of the carnival committee of the Building Trades Council was held yesterday afternoon in the carnival offices at the arsenal, and the accounts of the celebration for the first week were gone over. The figures presented showed that during the first week over 100,000 people from Pittsburgh and vicinity had visited the carnival and paid the admission fee of 10 cents. This means that the carnival is a paying proposition for the Building Trades Council, and that the chances for the erection of the proposed Labor exchange are bright. It is expected that not less than $10,000 will be cleared for this purpose before the end of the celebration.

While the attendance has been good during the first week, the second and last week of the affair, which commences this afternoon, promises to be by far the bigger of the two. Every indication points to a big attendance every day and evening this week, unless Forecaster Ridgway and his adverse weather machine interfere. So far the weather has been anything but right for carnival purposes, and if the sun comes out warm and strong during the coming week, there will be a record-breaking crowd every night.

Marvelous Marsh, who was injured Saturday night, was somewhat better yesterday afternoon. The physicians who had been working over him nearly all night, said that while he would be very stiff and sore, yet he would probably be able to make his jump as usual this afternoon and evening. The bones were not injured by contact with the wood, but the muscles were badly bruised.

Attributed to Spontaneous Combustion.

A carload of hay on the Pittsburgh & Western tracks, near Allegheny avenue, Allegheny, caught fire at 10:15 a. m. yesterday. Fifteen minutes later another car nearby was discovered in flames. Spontaneous combustion is blamed for both fires.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF MARKET PRICES

Hay Firm at Advanced Quotations—Black Raspberries Begin to Arrive.

Last week was one of activity and strong tone in the hay market, while receipts were light. Quotations were advanced, as had been expected, and the situation grows firmer every day, as it becomes more of a conviction with dealers and the trade generally that there will be light crops, while the present condition of supplies is such that it seems more than likely there will be no stocks to carry over from old crops. Straw is unchanged in price, with very little coming in, but that fills apparently enough to care for the demand, and no shortage is noticeable. Corn, both ear and shelled, has held its own all week and prices are the same as those quoted on Monday morning last. Oats are coming forward in limited amount only and are higher in price, western markets also having advanced. Rye is active and quotations have moved forward. Middlings are unchanged, but bran is active at higher figures.

Good milling wheat is scarce and mills have advanced flour prices, the general situation being one of great strength. Local millers, while feeling that they should be getting more for their flour than selling prices of last week, have not generally advanced, although some houses have put the prices up to the higher range. If present conditions continue there is great probability that there will be an advance all along the line. Sugar is more active than it was a week ago, local quotations for refined remain as they have been for two weeks. Coffee is dull in primal markets and local quotations for roasted are unchanged. Navy beans are holding their own at former prices.

In canned goods there has been a slight stiffening up in listed prices for standard corn and tomatoes, but the advance is only fractional and in some cases at least is subject to concessions. Dried fruits are steady, but without quotable change.

Strawberries had a hard time of it during the week, with arrivals away in excess of demand and quotations went down to the lowest point of the season and a number of consignments were sold for freight on Saturday. There was a firmer market, but this was on account of the usual end of the week demand and this morning will probably find prices offering about the same figures as have been quoted for several days. Blackberries and huckleberries made their bow to the Pittsburgh public last week and a few black raspberries arrived late in market on Saturday. The latter brought 15 cents a quart wholesale, but would likely have commanded more except for the fact that they do not arrive until late in the day. Potatoes are unchanged, both new and old. Apples are a little lower in price, with demand decreased. String beans were much lower during the week, although a little firmer on Saturday. Peas are steady.

Watermelons and canteloupes from Florida are regular offerings and prices are down to a range of 75c@$1 each for the former average buyer. Lemons are active at former prices. Oranges are in fair demand and unchanged. Bananas are steady and firm. California cherries have been in abundant supply and are much lower. Pineapples are steady and good sellers.

Butter advanced a half cent last Monday and has ruled steady at the advance, with an active demand for best table grades of creamery. Cheese is more plentiful and prices are again receding, with notable declines to come. Dealers think the market will rule at about 10 cents this summer. Eggs are steady and dealers are trying to get higher prices on account of the heavy and feather loaded, eggs shrinking considerably at this time of year when candled. Supplies are moderate and receipts are no heavier than can be readily handled.

There has been no change in the poultry market for over a week, receipts and demand just about holding each other steady. Chickens are in limited supply and better ones are showing no disposition to diminish request.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines 12 cars hay, 4 cars oats; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 5 cars hay, 2 cars oats; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 3 cars hay, 1 car oats. Total receipts, 33 cars.

NOT WEALTH BUT MEN AND WOMEN

Character Counts for More Than Riches or Battleships, Says Dr. Chalmers Martin.

HIS BACCALAUREATE SERMON

Graduates of Pennsylvania College for Women Attend Bellefield Presbyterian Church—Bliss Perry Will Deliver the Address at Commencement Exercises.

In the presence of the graduating class of the Pennsylvania College for Women in the Bellefield Presbyterian church yesterday morning the Rev. Chalmers Martin, D. D., president of the college, preached the baccalaureate sermon. His topic was "The Education of Women and National Welfare." Dr. Martin said in part:

I take for my text the words from the 144th psalm, which appear on the seal of the college. That our daughters may be as corner stones polished after the similitude of a palace." I did not choose this text because it is on our college seal, but because it embodies an important message of our time and nation, the message that the right education of women is an important element in national well-being.

This may seem a very unlikely truth by an oriental a thousand years before Christ, but David as an inspired man was far ahead of his age, and this is really the teaching of the text. This psalm is a national anthem. David conceives himself as a king, a ruler. In the end of the psalm he is drawing a picture of the ideally prosperous nation, and the first thing he speaks about is the character of its citizens, particularly its young men and women. He puts first in His prayer for his country that her sons may be like well-grown, plants and her daughters like polished stones in a palace.

DR. CHALMERS MARTIN,

David considers the character of the young men and women of his land of more importance than the fertility of her soil, the number of her cattle, or the extent of her commerce, more important than peace and contentment. This is a lesson the people of the United States need to learn afresh every generation. We are intoxicated with the pride of business and wealth and material power. We look forward to the time when we shall be not only the richest nation, but also the most populous and powerful. We need to be reminded that the character of our men and woman counts for more than our natural, or our wealth, or the number of our battleships. It is "men, high-minded men," that "constitute a state."

But not high-minded men only; we must have high-minded women as well. This is the second thing that David has to say about national well-being: the women of a nation have as important a relation to its safety and dignity as its men have. He sets Israel's sons and her daughters side by side in his picture as having equal importance. This is a second point in which he is far ahead of his age. The ancient world outside of Palestine made woman small, inferior, his drudge and slave, his toy. It was only the great thinkers of Israel, Moses, David, Isaiah, that taught that she was his equal.

This they did under the influence of the account of the creation of man and woman in Genesis, where woman is represented as man's equal, companion, helper, equal sharer in the image and likeness of God. This view runs through all the Old Testament and is the foundation of Christian teaching and practice which has made the entrance of the gospel into any land a proclamation of deliverance to her women from slavery and reproach.

The commencement exercises at the Pennsylvania College for Women will be held tonight in Dilworth hall. At their conclusion Dr. Martin's association with the institution as president will cease. His resignation was accepted several weeks ago and his successor, Dr. S. B. McCormick of Cox college, Cedar Rapids, Mich., appointed. Dr. McCormick has not yet accepted the position.

The commencement address tonight will be delivered by Bliss Perry, L. H. D., formerly a Princeton professor and since 1899 editor of the Atlantic. The subject of his address is "Democracy and Excellence." Mr. Perry is a graduate of Williams college and spent several years in study at the universities at Berlin and Strasburg. After completing his education he became professor of English at Williams. Subsequently he accepted a similar position at Princeton.

Mr. Perry's literary work comprises numerous contributions to magazines and much editorial supervision of standard works of literature. He has written many novels, among them being "Broughton House," "The Plated City" and "Salem Kittredge." His latest publication is entitled "A Study of Prose Fiction."

The exercises will be continued all of the coming week.

Gov. Pennypacker and leading state educators will speak at a popular meeting on Monday afternoon.

The building will be finished by January 1.

PRIEST FOR 30 YEARS.

The Rev. Father Quilter Celebrated the Anniversary of His Ordination.

The thirteenth anniversary of the ordination of the Rev. Father P. J. Quilter of St. Luke's Roman Catholic church of Carnegie, was celebrated yesterday afternoon at the school hall. All was a surprise to the aged pastor. About 1,000 members of the church gathered, Father Quilter was sent for and taken to the hall, where the following program was rendered:

Welcome song, girls; address to Rev. Father Quilter, Master T. Minahan; presentation of children's gift, Master B. McDermott; presentation of flowers, Misses E. Hammill and Ella Queenan; recitation, Miss Carrie Anderson; "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star," baby girls; drama, "On a Strike;" "Little Sailors" song, boys' recitation, Master F. Egar; morning invitation, large girls; "Tinker's Song," large girls; "Little Gypsy Girls," little girls; hymn.

After the exercises the crowd was banqueted by the women of the church. Father Brennan of McDonald also being a guest of honor.

Father Quilter was born in County Kerry, Ireland, and came to America in 1868, where he entered St. Michael's academy at Glenwood, where he was ordained to the priesthood on June 7, 1873. His first pastorate was the St. Paul's cathedral, Allegheny, where he stayed almost two years. He was then sent to the St. Peter's church, Allegheny, and four months later was given the St. Patrick's charge in Armstrong county. In October, 1889, he went to the St. Luke's church in Carnegie, where he has been since. His present pastorate includes about 400 families and over 1,000 members.

PREACHED HIS FIRST SERMON AS PASTOR

The Rev. Warren G. Partridge, D. D., began his work as pastor of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church yesterday. He preached sermons at both services. Communion was administered in the morning and special music by the new quartet choir was rendered at both services. A reception will be given Dr. and Mrs. Partridge in the fountain room of the church at 8 o'clock tonight, at which they will be welcomed by representatives of the church, of the other churches of the Baptist denomination and of churches of other denominations.

DR. LEAK PREACHED ON "THE CREATION OF MAN."

The Rev. Thomas J. Leak, pastor of the Oakland Methodist Episcopal church, Forbes and Boquet streets, preached yesterday morning on "The Creation of Man." "The sublimest act of the creation," said Dr. Leak, "was when God said 'Let us make man in our own image, after our likeness.' Man was made like God in his individuality. The Almighty called his name, 'I am that I am,' that is, I am distinct from all other beings, complete in myself. So man was made separate and distinct from every other."

THE REV. E. M. WOOD ON "KNOWLEDGE IS POWER"

In the Fifth Avenue Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning the Rev. E. M. Wood preached on "Knowledge Is Power." "The highest form of knowledge," said Mr. Wood, "is the highest form of power, as electricity is a higher form of power than the dray horse. This is why civilized nations are more powerful than barbarous nations. The highest species of knowledge is the moral and not the intellectual as many suppose. As the highest species of the moral is God."

SUMMER SERVICES FOR YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN

The Rev. Edward Hudson Young, associate rector of St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal church, conducted a joint service in Christ church, Allegheny, last night. These services will be held every Sunday night during the summer in order to attract young men and women who spend much of their time in the park facing the church. The sermons will be delivered to men and women especially. Music is also to be an important feature of the service.

PRIEST'S TRIP TO IRELAND.

One Raising the Most Money Will Get the Journey to Emerald Isle.

The congregations of St. Rosella's Roman Catholic church of Greenfield and St. Colman's Roman Catholic church of Turtle Creek, expect to be cleared of debt in the next month. A novel plan has been made to stimulate contributions. The most popular curate of the churches named, whose congregation raises the most money in his behalf, will get a three months' trip through Ireland free. The curate of St. Colman's church is the Rev. Father John Moore, and at St. Rosella's the Rev. Father Sheedy officiates. It is said that if Father Moore is not the winner, the Turtle Creek congregation will send him to Ireland to visit his aged mother at its own expense. The contest closes June 24.

Next Saturday St. Colman's congregation will have an excursion on the Mayflower. It will start at 10 a. m. and the boat will return to Braddock at 2 p. m.

SPIRIT OF PROGRESS SHOWN AT MEETING

The Rev. R. H. Hood Preached on Late General Assembly of United Presbyterians.

The Rev. R. H. Hood, pastor of the Mt. Washington United Presbyterian church, who attended the late meeting of the general assembly of his denomination at Toledo, Mo., took the meeting as the theme for his sermon yesterday morning. His text was from Hebrews xii:26. Mr. Hood said in part:

The one marked characteristic of the late assembly was the spirit of progress all along the line of mission work, both at home and abroad. The beginning of the movement was not a sudden impulse of some overzealous, injudicious missionary. It had its origin among our missionaries in India, who after 10 days of prayer and conference, and a careful survey of the whole field, decided to ask the church in America for a large additional force. Shortly after Egypt joined them in a similar request.

In our own country also there are more than 600 counties that are absolutely without any form of church service. In the mountain white regions of the south there are more than 3,000,000 without the gospel, and fully 12,000,000 foreigners scattered throughout the northern states have no saving knowledge of the gospel truly there is much land yet to be possessed. Nowhere are the fields whiter for the harvest. Surely the watch word which sounds in our ears is the divine command, "Go forward."

NO LASH OF ANY CREED IS WIELDED BY CHRIST

At the East End Christian church the pastor, the Rev. William J. Russell, took for his subject last evening "The Good Shepherd." He said in part:

There is much consolation in the thought that the Lord knoweth them that are his. When an American statesman was called upon to render assistance to one who was suffering in the war he haughtily replied, "I am concerned about the liberation of a race and cannot care for individuals." But our Divine Master is interested in men and women as individuals. It is recorded "He loved Martha and her sister and Lazarus." A shepherd feeds his sheep; he leads them to green pastures and beside the still waters. His endeavors to keep them from feeding in unwholesome pastures. And in like manner the Good Shepherd feeds us. All nourishment must come from Him. Jesus is the living bread. Grecian art and philosophy will not suffice. The food for the soul must be the true Christ and the whole Christ. The thought that Christ leads and does not drive has an important bearing upon the ecclesiastical tyranny beneath which men have groaned so long. Such tyranny is not of Christ's sanction or authority. The denominational lash, so often applied in this, our boasted age of liberty, could never be wielded by His gentle hand.

TO BUILD OR SELL WILL BE DECIDED

A meeting of the congregation of the Second Presbyterian church, Penn avenue and Seventh street, has been called for Wednesday night, June 17, at which it is expected final action will be taken on the question of selling the property or of building a new edifice. The proposition to erect an office building with the church occupying the second, third and fourth floors, except the front tier of offices, will also be considered.
